ORDERS MADE BY ROOSEVELT FOR CONGRESS

Forecast of the Message Soon To Be Sent in By the President.

FOR TARIFF COMMISSION PRESIDENT WILL ARGUE

He Will Urge That the Commission be Made Permanent—Roosevelt Will Also Urge Reciprocity Especially With the Cuban Republic.

Milwaukee, Wis., October 14.—Postmaster General Henry C. Payne, in an interview today, said that the forthcoming annual message of President Roosevelt to congress probably will recommend that a permanent tariff commission be appointed:

"The president's views in regard to the revision of the tariff are substantially the same as those given by Senator Spooner, in his speech last night," said Mr. Payne. "He probably will favor a reduction of import duties upon products which no longer need protection. He also is inclined to favor the creation of a permanent tariff commission, which, at all times, can receive testimony, subject to expert consideration, concerning the varying interests of production and trade, submitting their reports and recommendations to congress, as other departments of the national government.

"This will insure the thorough and careful compilation of all information accessible, and will save to congressional committees a vast amount of labor. This was the policy outlined by the president in his speech at Logansport, Ind., which he had prepared for delivery at Milwaukee, and which, it is safe to predict, will be embodied in his annual message to congress. He is strongly in earnest in these views, as well as in those in relation to reciprocity as a feature of our commercial intercourse with foreign nations.

"Since the adjournment of congress, overwhelming manifestations that the people favor reciprocity with Cuba indicate that the opposition to that measure has faded away and that congress at an early day will redeem the pledge made by President McKinley for reciprocal trade relations with the young republic."

Capen, L.L.D., of Boston, presiding. The report of the home department was presented by Secretary Charles H. Davids, D.D., of Boston. The treasurer, Frank H. Gore, of Columbia university.

Mails Delayed by Strike.

St. Louis, Mo., October 14.—Owing to the strike of baggage and mail handlers at union station, there were piled up in the station at noon more than 500 leather pouches of letter mail and more than 3,000 sacks of paper, which missed connection with outgoing trains.

Siever intends to auction his bay filly, Scepter, on the day of the Cambridgeshire stakes, at New Market, October 29, at a reserve price of £20,000. If the filly is not sold Mr. Siever himself will run her for the Cambridgeshire stakes.

OPENING NIGHT OF BIG HORSE SHOW PROVES ONE OF DAZZLING BRILLIANCE

Coliseum Filled Last Evening by Society's Devotees and Lovers of Blooded Horses.

ENTRIES IN ALL CLASSES HIGH ABOVE EXPECTATION

With a Rush the Men of the Seventh Cavalry Enter the Tan Bark Arena, Furnishing a Stirring Climax for the Performance.

SOCIETY'S RECIPE FOR HORSE SHOW WEEK

Take an army brass button
With the man just behind it,
And a high-stepping hackney,
Fancy bridled to blind it;
Add a dash of black Tuxedo
With frou frou, frills and furbelow;
Mix them well with equine chatter
'Round on a great big tan bark platter.
Decolette and gowns de trop
Smart Set present, comme il faut,
Chef d'oeuvre de cuisine, here below,
Pride a la south, Atlanta de Horse Show.

The third annual horse show of Atlanta is on.

Never in all history has there been such a galaxy of tan bark talent, such a centering of the beauty of the south, such a versatility of entertainment, such a wealth of music, such a mobilizing of fashion and such a gathering of the clans of the most exclusive sets of society's world throughout the length and breadth of all Dixieland.

It's a fair field and no favors.

The army button, the beauty and the beast.

It's the most beautiful race ever run south of the national capital, and while there are no bookmakers or a betting ring as there is in the other horse show that runs on the outside, just a short distance to the southwest, if there were such things as books, the slates would probably have shown the button, the beauty and the beast as the only favorites.

It is fair and cooler, as Forecaster Marbury predicted—with a long especial accent on the cooler.

Wraps are quite the thing in the boxes, while for the men it's a case of top coats, short coats and overcoats.

It is floral show as well as a horse show, great bunches of chrysanthemums predominating with here and there a corsage of English violets.

In the judging of the classes, the jumpers, tandems and saddlers are evidently the most popular.

The blue ribbon awards of the judges were heartily applauded by the crowd.

Out in the paddock there is plenty going on. English grooms from across the Canadian line are running around putting the finishing touches to the entries and dropping their h's in a way that reminds many, so they say, of dear ol' Lunnon.

This is a wonderful combination this evening.

The beautiful toilets of the ladies suggesting the opening night of grand opera.

The strains of music that seem to emanate from the baton of Signor Liberati as a single instrument rather than the concerted effort of his wonderful band of fifty soloists, suggesting a symphony night.

The khaki, the yellow stripes of the cavalry and the red of the artillery suggesting the western army post.

The dancing and prancing of thoroughbreds suggesting a great state fair.

The most entrancing, fascinating and diversified tout en semble to be found in all these wonders of twentieth century surprises—a horse show.

And everyone, on every side, is voting this opening night an epochmaker in the field of horse and the realms of society.

Things societywise will date from tonight, and its the happiest merestone ever passed in all Atlanta's history.

Fighting there has been, as the final curtain, of the noisiest kind, with the six-shooters of the Seventh cavalry, the pride of Uncle Sam, playing a rattling rag-time.

SUBTLE PERFUMES AMID AROMA OF TAN BARK

There is the aroma of the tan bark and the subtle perfumes from the boxes that speak of dainty sachets hidden from view among the secrets of Dame Fashion's disciples.

Flags, festoons of multi-colored bunting and artistic drapery swing to the vibrations of stirring music that is finally lost among the gayly dressed rafters above.

Everything is groomed, from those on the tan bark below to the last row of seats, and the Coliseum rejoicing in a new necklace of electric gems is fairly smiling in her best bib and tucker.

Everyone seems to be here—everyone except someone who can transmit this bewildering scene of gayety and fashion to paper and infuse into cold type some adequate suggestions of this brilliant world inclosed within the confines of a well-filled paddock.

A SCENE IMPOSSIBLE TO FITTINGLY DESCRIBE

But columns will never make you smell the smoke of the sham battle nor hear a single note of the magnificent music. If there is in all this beautiful world a soli-

CANADIAN HORSES IN LEAD IN AWARD OF BLUE RIBBONS

THERE were several surprises in the showing made by the entries in last night's classes.

According to the ribbons awarded by the judges, it was evidently Canadian night at the horse show. The strings of Crow & Murray and George Pepper, of Toronto, simply won ribbons by ones and twos, and in the hunters' and jumpers' class, No. 30, all three awards went to Mr. Pepper's animals.

The opening class of single horses to road and runabout wagons found the contest a close one and it was not until the judges had put the entries through their best paces for the third time and had carefully examined the several appointments that the blue banner was given to Commander Baker, of Colonel Robert Aul's string, from St. Louis.

Jumpers and hunters were evidently the most popular with the crowds and every one of these entries came in for rounds of applause.

Pearl, Mr. Pepper's championship jumper, failed to make better than third last evening and it was evident that he was not in his best ferm.

Crow & Murray's tandems also came in for a big share of the enthusiasm, the actions of a lead sorrel quite capturing the hearts of the spectators.

Some Local Winners.

Jack Stewart, E. H. Inman and B. H. Treadwell were the local ribbon winners. Amory S. Dunbar, of Augusta, was the only fortunate Georgian outside of the Atlanta winners.

The forms, gaits and manners of the ntries last evening ware held by all to be exceptional. The awards of the judges were heartily commended by the spectators.

The rest of the night's doings in the ring is told in the list of awards and entries:

The following were the prize winners in the different classes of last night's entries:

Class No. 3—Single Horses—Appointments—$100, $50, $25.

THE LADY OR THE HORSE?

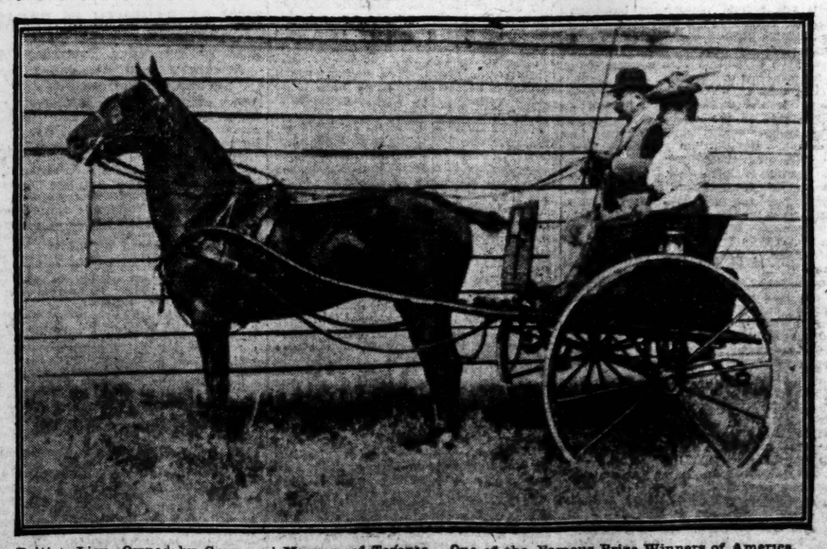

By Alan Rogers.

HE comes with a hopeful, anxious step
Across the bark field of tan,
But the rosy glow, of her cheeks' pure snow,
Belongs to the horse, not man.

Her sparkling eyes, with their tender lights,
He sees like a phantom dim,
For he knows full well that their magic spell
Belongs to the horse, not him.

Her flowerlike mouth, with its red wine curves,
And the dimples belong, of course.
For the rest of the week, to the equine cheek,
Of man's best friend, the horse.

It's the same old story, a girl and a man,
And also a man's "best friend,"
But who'll wear the blue ribbon, the beast or the man,
When the Horse Show comes to an end?

Scene in Boxes Was One of Resplendent Beauty and Charm.

SOCIAL SIDE PROMINENT ABOVE OTHER FEATURES

Social Leaders Not Only of Atlanta, But of the State, Occupied Seats in Boxes Surrounding the Arena—Scene Seldom Equaled.

As usual, next to the doings of the arena, the occupants, the costumes and the talk of the boxes came in for the greatest attention. Never before in Atlanta's history has there been such an assemblage of brilliant toilets and beautiful women as those that looked down upon the tan bark from the surrounding stalls last evening.

It was one of those nights when wraps were a necessity, but in the promenade up and down the aisles these were thrown back, displaying the magnificent gowns that have been for a long time awaiting the opening of the horse show. There was a considerable amount of visiting between the parties and all kinds of horsey talk.

SOME BOX PARTIES AT THE COLISEUM

With Colonel Robert J. Lowry were Mrs. Lowry, Mrs. Jack Horner, Miss Margaret Emerson, Mr. Austell Thornton and Mr. John Goldsmith.

MINERS BALK AT THE TERMS OF THE BARONS

Proposition Submitted by Operators Not Altogether Satisfactory to Strikers.

PRESIDENT MITCHELL PREPARING STATEMENT

Strikers Will Be Guided Entirely by Mitchell, in Whom They Have Implicit Confidence — He Refuses to Discuss Proposition.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., October 14.—From a thorough canvass of the situation as it exists tonight there is every indication for believing that the new arbitration plan proposed by the presidents of the coal companies for ending the miners' strike will not be accepted in its present form.

There is a division of opinion among the strikers, but there is no doubt that a majority feel that the offer to have the president of the United States select an arbitration commission along the lines suggested by the operators is not fair, and that it unduly limits the president in making up the board. The miners, it is safe to say, will abide the advice of their national president, in whose judgment they have the utmost confidence.

Statement By Mitchell.

President Mitchell declines to say how he personally looks upon the proposition, but tonight he gave to the press the following statement:

"I fully appreciate with what anxiety the people of our country are awaiting the end of the coal strike. The coal operators have not addressed the miners' union or its officers in making their public statement. It is, therefore, impossible for me to state the attitude of the miners at this time. I am now, as I have always been, deeply solicitous of the interests of the public and the mine workers who have been on strike for the past five months. A formal statement defining our position and intentions will be issued just as soon as we are in possession of the full meaning of the propositions of the operators."

This statement was made by him at 3 o'clock, after a silence lasting all day. He had no intention of making it until the correspondents, representing newspapers all over the country, called on him in a body and informed him that the general public desired to have an answer to the proposition of the operators. After giving it he was asked many questions regarding the attitude of the men, and the probability of the acceptance or rejection of the new offer, but he had no reply to make to any of there questions. He denied that he had any knowledge of what the new offer of the operators was until it became public property, and also denied that he was in telephonic communication with President Roosevelt. His attention was called to the fact that most of the information from Washington indicated that the proposition would be accepted and that the strike was near at an end, but he stoutly maintained that neither his officers nor the rank and file of the men had done anything to cause such an impression to go out.

STRIKERS BALK AT PEACE PLANS

Objections To the Propositions Made by Barons.

Mitchell Declines to Discuss Proposition, But Is Engaged In Preparing Statement—Strikers Will Be Guided By His Advice.

Strike Leaders Silent.

The district presidents also maintain silence as to their personal opinion on the proposition, excepting President Fahy, who, after he arrived from Boston, today, gave an inkling as to how he viewed the new turn of affairs. In reply to a query, he said:

"The strike cannot be settled without the consent of the men. We are not dealing in gold bricks of any kind, and you can make any deduction from that you want."

There will be a conference tomorrow between Mr. Mitchell, the three district presidents and Secretary-Treasurer Wilson, who will arrive here tomorrow. It is fully expected that the sentiment of all the strikers will be known tomorrow and that action will be taken accordingly. There is talk of a convention being called, but there is nothing definite on which to base this talk. When Mr. Mitchell was asked if he and the district officers had power to end the strike he said that it is a rule of the organization that no settlement can be made by the officers of the union without the consent of a delegate convention. It is practically certain that Mr. Mitchell's advice will be followed in the conference. While he has not said a word as to what he will do, it is freely predicted by those who understand the situation that he will advise a refusal of the proposition.

Views of Rank and File.

The rank and file of the miners view the new proposal in different lights and make strong arguments as to their views. Those who are opposed to accepting the new offer looked upon the operators' latest move as a counter proposition to Mr. Mitchell's offer to arbitrate, made at Washington. They compare the two offers and pick out what they allege to be many flaws. Their greatest objection to it is that the operators dictate to the president from what class of men he shall select the arbitrators, and charge the operators with lack of faith in the president, when they do not give him a free hand to pick the men he wants. Another objection to it is that the president is limited to four men in selecting the jurist on the commission.

A great many of the strikers think the proposition should be accepted, and that the miners should trust to President Roosevelt to do the best he can under the conditions laid down by the coal road presidents. An argument was made by one miner at the Hart hotel today that Mr. Mitchell could not well afford to turn down the proposition after already offering to permit the president to select the members of the commission.

There is still a third view held by miners, and that is to refuse to accept the plan offered and make a counter proposition embodying some suggestions contained in the operators' offer. This was mentioned to President Mitchell, but he would make no comment on it.

Strike headquarters presented an animated scene all day and evening. The news of the operators' proposal to arbitrate spread throughout the region quickly. Toward noon reports came in from outlying districts to the effect that many men looked unfavorably on the operators' proposition, which gave an indication of what might be expected. This was a damper on the enthusiasm of the citizens generally, who thought they saw a ray of hope for the ending of the strike.

Arbitration talk has acted as a check upon the movement of men returning to work, and it is probable there will be no great movement in this direction until some definite conclusion is reached in the arbitration scheme.

Gompers Denounces Proposition.

Washington, October 14.—President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, tonight said:

"In my opinion the proposition made by the operators, at least so far as their designation of who should be invited to go on the commission of arbitration is concerned, is an insult to the president of the United States. I desire that the president should use his discretion in the selection of the personnel of the commission.

"Mr. Mitchell has said that he will be perfectly satisfied with whomever the president selects. If the mine owners are to be permitted to suggest who shall constitute the arbitration commission, why, in all fairness, should it not follow that Mr. Mitchell should likewise be permitted to make suggestions as to the personnel of the commission? I hope that the president will decline to act on this proposition of the mine owners unless he is given a free hand."

DAZZLING SCENES ARE WITNESSED AT FIRST NIGHT OF HORSE SHOW

Events Pass Off Smoothly and Create Enthusiasm.

tary desert island, it is in the press box, where every occupant, marooned to the limitations of a pencil and pad, must try and work out some kind of a salvation, no matter how painful or impossible.

The variety of color is nothing less than bewildering. The gowns of the ladies are certainly most stunning affairs. Their smiles and coquetry most fetching and magnetic, if the little scenes and incidents that are constantly occurring and recurring are any criterion.

If there is anything bearing the slightest resemblance to a disease prevalent it is adjectivitis. Really there are some very sad cases all around and it seems to be both contagious and epidemic.

It's quite bad enough when representatives of either sex come in contact, but when two debutantes line up for comment on a third, the results are nothing short of superlatively fatal.

"What a dream of a gown."

"Perfectly delicious."

"Simply sweet—all those darling points of old lace."

"And those adorable ruffles."

"Such a fascinating shade of rose."

"Perfectly maddening."

"An awfully cunning idea."

"Simply ravishing."

And then the band played.

And some of those poor horses—how they must have suffered if by any chance they overheard and understood.

UNINITIATED TANGLED WITH THE ABBREVIATIONS

On the opening night there is always any number of the uninitiated who get most woefully tied up and twisted on the "bl. g's" and the "br. m's" and all that sort of thing that follow the names of the horses and this evening is no exception. But every once in a while there is a subrosa sisterly or brotherly conference for the straightening out of these horsey heriogiyphics.

But just listen to some—the ones that have never missed a show and talk knowingly and comparatively of the show at "the Square." Very learned these, in the matter of horses. And really to the unsophisticated it would seem quite shocking to hear some beautiful young maiden "daming" and "sireing" everything in the ring.

Seriously, Atlanta may boast of some very clever horsewomen. Their criticism this evening entitles them to the real respect of all horse lovers and in passing judgment the red wheels of the wagon had nothing to do with their opinion as it did with the rank and file of their sisters.

HORSES SHOW UP IN EXCELLENT SHAPE

As for the horses themselves, they are showing up in excellent form. On every side there is but one expression and that the consensus of opinion—never was there such an opening night as this. The green jumpers are behaving themselves admirably, the high steppers are acting handsomely and the gaited saddle horses have won volumes of applause.

If there was but one word to describe the entire performance this evening, that word would be cosmopolitan in its truest sense.

A description of the gowns individually belongs to the realms of the society editor exclusively. Gowns generally may be treated in an introduction if the field is not tresspassed upon by specializing. The effect produced by such wonderful combinations is remarkable. Make a telescope of your hand and slowly sweep the opposite side of the arena and the patches of every color of the rainbow, succeeding and replacing each other, has the effect of some mammoth kaleidoscope with the beautiful gowns playing the part of the many bits of colored glass.

And its one of the occasions where the dress of the men come in for a description and help much in giving the cosmopolitan touch that is omnipresent. You see it in the uniforms of the officers, the resplendent affairs of the musicians and the plain brown and blue of the troopers. All that is needed to make this affair a reception to the foreign legion at Washington is the broad ribbon of the French Legion or the gray decorations of some Russian general of the field.

But after everything has been said and done, its back to the starting post with the question of the army button, the beauty or the beast.

UNEQUALED WORK OF THE SEVENTH CAVALRY

But listen!

It is evident that the directors, like the old conquering emperors in another coliseum in the world's capitol at Rome, have left the great event of the holiday for the closing number of the programme. This is everywhere to be seen, heard and felt in the suppressed excitement that prevails, the lull in the small talk and the clearing of the tan bark.

The bugle call "assembly" rings clear and true from the paddocks. Everyone seems on the qui vive with the knowledge that now things are going to happen. Even Signor Liberati smiles as he hears the "assembly." He is himself a soldier, which is self evident by his military bearing.

Over the hurdle at the entrance to the ring comes Captain Anderson of the Seventh on the full jump. Following closely are Second Lieutenant Hayden in command of the first platoon and First Lieutenant Commiskey of the second platoon.

Then Sergeant Conley, the ranking noncommissioned officer carrying the troop guidon that flutters with the swift pace like a flag in a whole gale. And then both platoons of troopers coming from the paddock over the first hurdle at a gallop, less than four feet intervening between the nose and the croup of the next horse. As they come bounding into the arena, the rising and falling of the mounts over the hurdle give the appearance of one succession of breakers of horse flesh, filling and breaking with an incoming tide until the tan bark is filled with these picked men of Uncle Sam circling the rail at a gallop.

It is splendid.

Talk about your centaurs. The American cavalrymen of reality has got the legendary heroes of mythology "stung a mile," as the troublesome tout of the race track would put it.

A SCENE DAZZLING TO THE IMAGINATION

And the yellow striped saddle blankets of blue, the clanking sabers, the creaking of leather, the military saddles with the latest trappings ordered by the government, the brown khaki riding breeches, the flannel shirts of blue, the grim looking six-shooter filled holsters and the perfect "set up" of the American regulars are being cheered until you can't possibly hear Liberati trying to play something that might be "The Conquering Hero" if you could catch two continuous bars above the thunder of applause.

It's like one succession of Remington pictures thrown into real life from his illustrations of the regular on the western frontier.

He is convincingly and tremendously inspiring.

From now on for these last two acts the brass buttons of the army has both the "beauty and the beast" left at the starting point, in sporting parlance.

Away over there somewhere is the buzz of the trolley car and the quiet scuffling of these times of peace.

But here in this little world of our own and the directors making, it's grim war. And all of us are on the very edges of our seats looking down from box, parquet and circle heights watching these troopers fight out this last battle of Atlanta with round after round of blank cartridges.

SABER EXERCISES CAPTURE AUDIENCE

Now the saber exercises are on, the "present, charge, return—sabers," from Captain Anderson being distinctly audible in every part of the great amphitheater. The occupants of the press box are falling willing subjects to the prevailing malady of "adjectives." The strongest superlatives fall far short in describing the brilliancy and splendor of the scene. The line of flashing sabers catching and reflecting rays from the electric lamps in every direction. The pawing of the horses—restless and excited—but under perfect control. The characteristic contours of every trooper from the strong chin to the quiet eye that welcomes feats of daring for the pure love of it and that has ever smiled at danger for glory of American arms and the pardonable pride of the Seventh.

If you're not here make to yourself and for yourself some good excuse. It's right up to every Atlantan not to miss one single chapter of this unprecedented horse show.

They're off on a gallop again, the second platoon at "gallop fours right," column right" and out of the arena.

Now comes Cossack riding by the American soldiers that would make the originators of the north rush to Siberian exile out of pure choice.

Stirrups are crossed over the seat of the saddle, high cantle and horn, and with the men standing upright in the shortened stirrups they are off at a gallop over the hurdles, executing maneuvers that would scare any self-respecting enemy into a fit of hysteria before the firing commenced.

Now the troopers are in line. "Backward—march" and the horses fall to the rear with the precision of United States infantry. "Right—pass" and across the arena the entire platoon sidesteps like a single horse.

Now come fours in circle, right wheel, spirals to the right, close in to center and reverse, figure eights around the entire arena, the troopers passing alternately until you are quite dizzy with simply watching. The grand march by twos, fours, eights, and by platoons, and the order to lie down.

Watching the horses go down at the command is one of the features of the show, many of the troopers remaining in the saddle until the mount is within a fraction of a second of the ground. Behind the horses lie the men, their six-shooters from their holsters, waiting for the attack.

From the paddocks the bugle sounds the charge and in comes the second platoon, riding Indian fashion, with only a blanket cinched to their mounts.

"Wow! Woo-o-oow! Wow!"

It is the long drawn out and snappy war cry of the Apaches, breaking loose from their Arizona reservation, and out on the trail that leads to the highest honors in the Happy Hunting Grounds.

This is certainly the dramatic climax of this great opening night.

The six-shooters are singing the song of death without a single fatality.

Blue smoke fills the arena, and in the drifting, sifting clouds, if you look closely, you will see the sage brush and the alkali dust of the Little Big Horn, and long haired General Custer and the men of his command in this same position, reaping victory and valor to the glory of the Seventh, from the greatest massacre by Indians in history.

Now the second platoon of bareback riders are going through their fancy drills and "monkey drills" their pyramids and "horse play." What they don't do on a horse, by a horse and with a horse isn't worth mentioning. Dufany, over there, the last man in line, is doing little solo stunts. If the directors would erect a Georgia pine on the tan bark this rough riding trooper would climb the tree on horseback. He and his comrades have done many other things these last few minutes equally as impossible. Their handsprings, hurdling, mounting and dismounting to the rear on the full gallop simply must be seen to be believed. And, even then, you have to pinch yourself to keep your eyes from writing you down a prevaricator against your better judgment.

And then, by columns of fours, standing on the backs of their horses, they go galloping over the hurdles and out of the arena to the echoing cheers that threaten to displace the curves of the race track beyond by their tremendous volume and terrible force.

There is but one disappointment this evening and that is the failure of a platoon of the famous Grimes' battery, First Lieutenant Nones, commanding. There were a number of the boys around the ring, but there was no drill. The management says that the machine gun cut too deep ruts in the tan bark arena. They, however, are considering some way of remedying this trouble, and it will be the great feature of some evening in the near future. Naturally the battery boys, who have been drilling for weeks for this show, are greatly disappointed over their non-appearance this evening.

A GOOD DEAL OF NONSENSE

About "Blood Purifiers" and "Tonics."

Every drop of blood, every bone, nerve and tissue in the body can be renewed in but one way, and that is from wholesome food properly digested. There is no other way and the idea that a medicine in itself can purify the blood or supply new tissues and strong nerves is ridiculous and on a par with the fol-de-rol that dyspepsia or indigestion is a germy disease or that other fallacy, that a weak stomach which refuses to digest food can be made to do so by irritating and inflaming the bowels by pills and cathartics.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets cure indigestion, sour stomach, gas and bloating after meals, because they furnish the digestive principles which weak stomachs lack, and unless the deficiency of pepsin and diastase is supplied it is useless to attempt to cure stomach trouble by the use of "tonics," "pills" and "cathartics" which have absolutely no digestive power, and their only effect is to give a temporary stimulation.

One grain of the active principle in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest 3,000 grains of meat, eggs and similar foods, and experiments have shown that they will do this in a glass bottle at proper temperature, but of course are much more effective in the stomach.

There is probably no remedy so universally used as Stuart's Tablets because it is not only the sick and ailing, but well people who use them at every meal to insure perfect digestion and assimilation of the food.

People who enjoy fair health take Stuart's Tablets as regularly as they take their meals, because they want to keep well, prevention is better than cure, and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do both; they prevent indigestion and then remove it where it exists. The regular use of one or two of them after meals will demonstrate their merit and efficiency better than any other argument.

FLED THE STATE TO ESCAPE MOB

Texas Sheriff Goes to Louisiana With a Negro Murderer.

During the Trip Two Deputies Forced Twenty-five Men to Lay Down Their Arms—Negro Confessed to Murdering Hicks Family.

Shreveport, La., October 14.—Sheriff John Spradley, of Nacogdoches county, Texas, today placed in the parish jail of Caddo, in this city, James Buchanan, self-confessed murderer of the Hicks family, for whom a mob of several thousand persons have been looking for two days.

In order to elude the mob the sheriff's posse were compelled to resort to all kinds of subterfuges, and during their journey to this city two deputies compelled a party of twenty-five men to lay down their arms. Buchanan was captured in a swamp near Nacogdoches. Mobs had gathered at Tenapa, Appleby, Nacogdoches and other places, and to throw the mob at Nacogdoches off the scent the sheriff sent the negro ahead with Deputy Matthews, while he himself took a train with his other companions. Matthews was instructed to watch for the train.

The plan miscarried, however, as a mob saw Matthews and he was compelled to hide in the woods with his prisoner. Meanwhile the crowd, believing the negro to be with Sheriff Spradley, was after that official. At Appleby the trains passed and Spradley and his men got aboard the westbound train as a ruse. The crowd immediately swarmed aboard and Spradley and his men slipped on the eastbound train and were greatly relieved when they met Matthews and his prisoner at Logansport, La. The man was brought to Shreveport in safety. All sorts of rumors are rife tonight, but it is believed that the negro is safe in the parish jail here.

Early tonight a crowd began gathering around the parish prison in which Buchanan was held. There was no demonstration, but Sheriff Spradley spirited the negro away from the jail in a cab, conveying him to a railroad junction near here, and placed him aboard the westbound Texas and Pacific train, which left here at 10:55 o'clock. The negro is now on his way to Rusk to be placed in the penitentiary there. He is in charge of Deputy Sheriff Matthews and Constable Borders. Sheriff Spradley has returned to Nacogdoches.

MEN OF SEVENTH IN PARADE

Military Procession Yesterday Was Witnessed and Applauded By Crowds Along the Streets.

The military parade yesterday afternoon through the principal business streets served to publicly introduce the Seventh cavalry, United States army, and Grimes' battery to Atlantans. The men of the two celebrated commands were applauded throughout the line of march by the many people who watched the procession from sidewalks and houses.

The parade had a very businesslike appearance. Those who took part in it were well seasoned in the service and looked the perfectly drilled men that they are. The troopers of the Seventh are a dashing set of fellows and ride like centaurs. They seemed a part of the horses they bestrode.

At the head of the procession rode a detachment of mounted police. Then came Lieutenant Colonel Clifford L. Anderson, of the Fifth regiment, Georgia state troops. The band of the Sixteenth regiment from Fort McPherson came next in line, the musicians being followed by the troops composing the Sixteenth infantry. The soldiers made a fine appearance in their khaki uniforms and divided honors with the men of the Seventh.

After the soldiers came the firemen's drum and bugle corps headed by Drum Major John Peel resplendent in a new uniform and immense white and scarlet shako. The drummers and buglers appeared fine and fit and set the pace for the men and horses who followed in their wake. Behind the drum corps came the members of the Governor's Horse Guard and after them the troopers of the Seventh. Grimes' battery completed the procession.

Something about some men you meet on the street causes you to look twice.

You cannot always tell what it is,—but it's something,—may be the shoes.

HEALER CAUGHT IN A LEGAL NET

Dr. Lorenz, Famous Austrian Specialist, Practically Arrested in Illinois.

FORCED TO GET LICENSE TO PRACTICE PROFESSION

Lorenz Came From Vienna to Operate On Lolita Armour and, After Working On Her, Was Operating On the Children of the Poor.

Chicago, October 14.—Dr. Adolf Lorenz, professor of orthopedic surgery in the university of Vienna, who operated successfully upon Lolita Armour, the young daughter of Mr. J. Ogden Armour last Sunday for congenital dislocation of the hip, today appeared before the state board of health and secured a license to practice his profession in this state. A summons to appear before the board was served on Dr. Lorenz this morning and this afternoon, in compliance with the request, he appeared before that body and was granted a license.

The summons arose from the fact that since the successful operation on the child of Mr. Armour, Dr. Lorenz has been besieged with appeals to operate on others afflicted with the same disease, and the state board of health therefore insisted that the doctor should take out a license if he intended to remain here and practice his profession.

Regarding the action of the board in issuing the summons, Dr. Egan, the secretary of the state board of health, said before the Vienna physician had applied for the license:

"There is no clause in the state law regarding practice merely in consultation cases. Dr. Lorenz, as we understand it, came from Vienna to Chicago to operate on the child of Mr. Armour in consultation with Dr. Ridlon, and there was no objection to that; but now we hear that he intends to remain here some time and continue practice. This is a different matter, for the medical laws of this state require physicians to get a license to practice in Illinois. It is customary for Illinois physicians to go to other states, and for physicians in other states to come to Illinois for consultation; but if they continue to practice in other cases they would have to comply with the local law governing the profession. The board has taken no action beyond requiring Dr. Lorenz to appear here and state his intention in regard to the further practice in Illinois. We have no intention to impose any hardship, neither do we intend to make any exception to anybody. All must obey the law."

"How did the board get this information in regard to Dr. Lorenz which caused him to appear before the board?" was asked Dr. Egan.

"We got it from the press."

STORMY POLITICS IN FRANCE

Session of the Deputies Promises To Be Sensational.

Paris, October 14.—The chamber of deputies reassembled today. The session promises to be stormy, in view of the interpellations before the house attacking the government for employing troops against strikers, and also for using the military in the case of the school troubles in Brittany. Moreover, the government's proposed new bill strengthening it in the adoption of measures against illegal congregations, under the associations law, and Finance Minister Rouvier's scheme for readjusting the country's finances will certainly lead to animated debates. The budget showed that the revenue was estimated at $715,100,000, and the expenditures at $715,000,000.

The chamber has decided to take up immediately as a unit all the interpellations relating to the application of the law of associations.

M. Aynard, progressive republican, opened the discussion by severely criticizing the action of the government in closing forcibly clerical schools and violating the rights of parents to give their children religious education, thus inaugurating civil and religious war. Count Demun, conservative, followed Aynard and spoke in the same strain. Both speakers were frequently noisily interrupted.

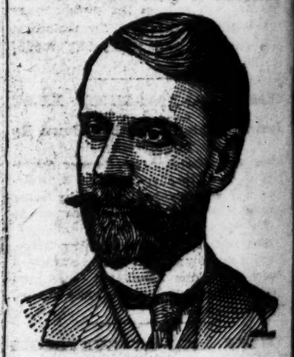

Debate from there was postponed until next Thursday. The chamber then adjourned.

NO MYSTERY.

His patients are among the most intelligent people, and he does not endeavor to mislead or deceive the ignorant or unthinking class by claiming to heal obstinate diseases in a few days. He can cure any case in as quick if not quicker time than anyone, but he does not insult the intelligence of the people by claiming to be able to do what any scientific man knows is impossible.

CASTRO'S FOES ARE DEFEATED

Venezuelan President Victorious in Battle Near La Victoria.

Details of the Battle Have Not Yet Been Received, But It Is Reported That the Government Army Won Great Victory.

Puerto Cabello, Venezuela, October 14.—According to an official report received here the battle fought between the Venezuelan revolutionists and the forces of President Castro near La Victoria has resulted in a complete victory for the government army.

Castro Deserts Caracas.

Willemstad, Island of Curacoa, October 14.—The government of Venezuela, owing to the fear that the revolutionists might make a night attack on Caracas, and in view of the fact that Vice President Vincent Gomez left that city yesterday morning with all the troops available, 800, to reinforce President Castro, has been transferred to the "provincial capital" of Venezuela, in the Guacaipuro district, surrounding Los Teques, without any town or village being stipulated as the headquarters of the ministers.

Consequently the seat of the government may be in a railroad car, or in some other place unknown to the general public. The Venezuelan government also was actuated in this matter by a desire not to reply to the questions of the foreign ministers, who have been daily asking for redress as the result of injuries inflicted on the persons or properties of citizens of the countries which they represent.

Iron Rates Not Increased.

Birmingham, Ala., October 14.—The iron committee of the railroads decided tonight that there should be no increase of 50 cents a ton in the freight rate of pig iron this fall as had been previously announced. The committee meets again in January to take the matter up. It was shown that the iron companies are receiving no increase in price for iron delivered this year, therefore the action of the committee.

MEXICO IS CONDEMNED TO PAY UNITED STATES

Hague Arbitration Court Decides Against Southern Republic in the Pius Fund Case--United States Acting for the Catholic Church.

The Hague, October 14.—The arbitration court in the Pius fund case has condemned Mexico to pay the United States $1,420,682.67 in Mexican currency. The decision of the court was unanimous.

The tribunal finds.

First, That the claim of of United States in behalf of the archbishop of San Francisco is governed by the principle of res judicata in virtue of the arbitration decision pronounced by Sir Edward Thornton, November 11, 1875, and amended by Sir Edward Thornton October 24, 1876.

Second, that in conformity with this decision the government of the United States of Mexico should pay the government of the United States $1,420,682.67 in money of the legal currency of Mexico, within the period fixed by article 10 of the protocol of Washington. This sum will cover the total payment of annuities due from and unpaid by the government of the Mexican republic, namely, the annual payment of $43,050.99 in Mexican currency from February 2, 1869, to February 2, 1902.

Third, the government of the United States of Mexico will pay to the government of the United States, February 2, 1903, and every following year for the same date forever, an annual payment of $43,050.99 of money of the legal currency of Mexico.

The decision of the tribunal was read by Secretary General Ruyssenars in the presence of the members of the diplomatic corps, their wives and the representatives of the litigants.

Dr. Matezan, president of the court, who declared that a revision of the sentence was only possible in the event of new facts coming to light, thanked the representatives of the United States and of Mexico for their assistance in enlightening the arbitrators.

Mr. Ralston, of Washington, one of the lawyers in the case, and Seno Pardo, on behalf of Mexico, thanked the court for the care it had given to the case. Senor Pardo declared he was sure that so soon as his government learned of the court's award it would accept it. He must, however, reserve for his government the right to avail itself of the provisions of the protocol.

How Washington Views Decision.

Washington, October 14.—Official news of the result of the arbitration in the Pius fund case was received here today from Mr. Ralston, one of the lawyers for the United States. He simply stated that the United States contention had been accepted as to res adjudicate and the full amount of the claim allowed, to be paid in Mexican silver. The first statement is understood to mean that the tribunal took the view that the decision of the first court, which awarded the claim of the church for accrued interest, did not prevent the accumulation of interest since that award.

CHURCH BARS VULGAR PLAYS

"Church and Drama" Discussed at First Session of Church Congress.

Albany, N. Y., October 14.—The twenty-first meeting of the church congress of the United States opened today with public choral services in the Cathedral of All Saints.

The topic which had been assigned for discussion was "The Church and the Drama," and elaborate discourses were presented by Rev. Dr. Henry Lubeck, of New York, and Rev. Dr. Tompkins, of Philadelphia. A discussion followed, which was led by A. B. Kinsolving, of Brooklyn, and Rev. W. E. Bentley, of New York. The consensus of opinion was that the stage would be to the benefit of the public at large. The speakers stated that many of the present day dramas pointed out high moral lessons and were of great benefit to humanity. It was suggested that if church members resolutely set themselves against lewd and vulgar plays and patronized only such as taught high standards of morality and painted pictures that would benefit morality, theatrical managers would quickly withdraw immoral and indecent plays.

SCOTCH WOMEN ROW OVER MEN

Rosebery and Campbell-Bannerman Cause Quarrel.

Lady Helen Munro-Ferguson Accused of Using Federation to Aid Lord Rosebery and Is Forced to Resign as President.

London, October 14.—Internal strife growing out of the question of allegiance to Lord Rosebery or Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman culminated in disorderly scenes and striking vituperation at a meeting of the Scottish Women's Liberal Federation, composed of the wives of members of parliament and other notable persons.

The members were specially gathered to receive the resignation of the president, Lady Helen Munro-Ferguson, the late Lord Dufferin's daughter. She appeared after the federation had passed a motion pledging confidence in the liberal leader in the house of commons, Campbell-Bannerman. It was charged that Lady Helen had sent out circulars of Lord Rosebery's liberal league with the view, so it was alleged, of turning the federation into an instrument of the former premier.

In spite of resolutions to the contrary, Lady Helen persisted in staying in the chair while the discussion of her conduct was going on. She hotly declared the federation showed the most indecent haste in desiring to get rid of her, adding: "I am in the chair and in the chair I will remain."

One of her supporters, the wife of a member of parliament, made personal charges against their opponents, and in spite of hisses and prolonged interruption Lady Helen persisted that she be allowed to continue.

The wife of another member of parliament declared that the executive committee had deliberately tampered with Lady Helen's circular by issuing it with underlined sentences which were not marked by the president. This statement was greeted by a chorus of hisses from the Scotch women assembled. Then the delegates stood up and shouted and wild confusion prevailed while the tellers for the vote on the president's resignation were appointed. Lady Helen, referring to one of the ladies chosen, said: "She could surely be trusted," whereupon all the other tellers, believing their honor to be impugned, refused to act.

Later a ballot vote was taken, and after the uproar had died down it was found that Lady Helen's resignation had been accepted by 133 to 62 votes.

The countess of Aberdeen was then elected president.

Test for Yourself the Wonderful Curative Properties of Swamp-Root

To Prove What Swamp-Root, the World-Famous Kidney and Bladder Remedy, Will Do for YOU, Every Reader of The Constitution May Have a Sample Bottle Free.

Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.:

Gentlemen—In justice to you, I feel it is my duty to send you an acknowledgement of the receipt of the sample bottle of Swamp-Root you so kindly sent me. I had been out of health for the past five years with kidney and bladder trouble. Had our best physicians prescribe for me. They would relieve me for the time being, but the old complaint would in a short time return again. I sent for a sample bottle of Swamp-Root, and I found it did me a world of good. Since then I have taken eight small bottles bought at my drug store, and I consider myself perfectly cured. It seemed as though my back would break in two after stooping. I do not have the smarting and irritation, nor do I have to get up during the night to urinate, as I formerly did three or four times a night, but now sleep the sleep of peace. My back is all right again, and in every way I am a new man. Two of my brother officers are still using Swamp-Root. They, like myself, cannot say too much in praise of it. It is a boon to mankind. We recommend it to all who are suffering from kidney and bladder diseases.

My brother officers (whose signatures accompany this letter), as well as myself, thank you for the blessing you have brought to the human race in the compounding of Swamp-Root.

We remain, yours very truly,
Police Officers of Greater New York.
JAMES COOK, 58th Precinct.
HUGH E. BOYLE, 65th Precinct.
JOHN J. BODKIN, 58th Precinct.

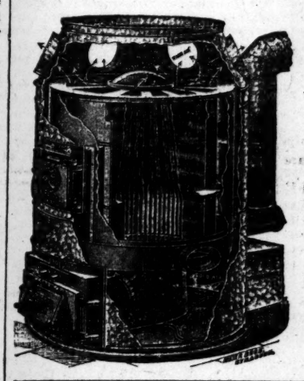

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the famous new discovery, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for many kinds of diseases, and if permitted to continue much suffering with fatal results are sure to follow. Kidney trouble irritates the nerves, makes you dizzy, restless, sleepless and irritable. Makes you pass water often during the day and obliges you to get up many times during the night. Unhealthy kidneys cause rheumatism, gravel, catarrh of the bladder, pain or dull ache in the back, joints and muscles; makes your head ache and back ache, causes indigestion, stomach and liver trouble; you get a sallow, yellow complexion, makes you feel as though you had heart trouble; you may have plenty of ambition, but no strength; get weak and waste away.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is used in the leading hospitals, recommended by physicians in their private practice, and is taken by doctors themselves, because they recognize in it the greatest and most successful remedy that science has ever been able to compound.

If you are already convinced that Swamp-Root is what you need, you can purchase the regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles at the drug stores everywhere. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root—Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

EDITORIAL NOTICE.—Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder remedy, is so remarkably successful that a special arrangement has been made by which all of our readers who have not already tried it may have a sample bottle sent absolutely free by mail. Also a book telling all about kidney and bladder troubles and containing many of the thousands upon thousands of testimonial letters received from men and women cured by Swamp-Root. In writing, be sure and mention reading this generous offer in The Atlanta Daily Constitution when sending your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Intent to Murder.

B. B. Stats, a young white man, and John Wyche, a negro, were arraigned in the recorder's court this morning on the charge of assault with intent to murder a negro man named Tom Jackson during the recent state fair. They were committed to jail without bond, to await the result of Jackson's injuries. Jackson positively identified Stats as the man who cut him in the hand and in the throat. Jackson nearly bled to death from the throat wound. He says Wyche held him by one arm and got in his way while Stats cut him. Apparently Jackson was cut without any provocation. This was the only trouble that happened during the week of the fair.

Handsome Home Sold.

The beautiful Sussdorff residence on College street has been sold to Mr. W. Z. Williams, a well-known railroad contractor, and will be occupied by him and his family. Mr. Williams will remodel the house in a handsome manner.

Sentenced for Life.

Solicitor General Brunson, of the Macon circuit, and John R. Cooper, of Macon, are in attendance on Houston superior court. They have just secured the conviction of a negro named Berry Barnes, who was charged with the murder of Welson Riley, colored, at a negro camp meeting. There was an element of doubt in the case and Barnes was sentenced to the penitentiary for life, instead of being sentenced to be hanged.

Death of J. W. Robinson.

A telegram was received in Macon today from Enid, Okla., announcing the death of Colonel John Walter Robinson, formerly an attorney of Macon. He was found dead in his room yesterday morning. Colonel Robinson went to Oklahoma several years ago when that territory was opened up for settlement. He accompanied the late Robert W. Patterson there. Colonel Robinson came to Macon from Washington county, Georgia.

HAYNER DISTILLERY CO. OPENS BRANCH HOUSE HERE

After a Careful Investigation Atlanta Is Selected as the Best Distributing Center in the South.

That Atlanta is regarded by the leading manufacturing, industrial and mercantile concerns of this country as the great distributing center of the south, is again evidenced by the fact that it has been selected by the Hayner Distilling Company as the most suitable location for their southern branch house. This company, after carefully looking over the field, and noting the advantages claimed by the various cities of the south, unhesitatingly decided that Atlanta stands preeminently at the head of the list, and therefore set about to secure suitable quarters in this city for the conduct of their southern business. The building at 51 Decatur street has been obtained, thoroughly redecorated and fitted up, and tomorrow will be opened up for business. A Constitution representative was shown over the premises by Mr. T. W. Crosby, advertising manager of the company, who stated that twenty-five to thirty people will be employed in the various departments. With the exception of the manager, Mr. J. P. Gore, and five departmental heads, all of whom come from the company's home offices, the employees will be Atlanta people.

Inasmuch as this company will now be identified with Atlanta's business and progress, we are pleased to give our readers some interesting information concerning it, as gleaned by our representative from Mr. Crosby, who said, in substance, as follows:

"The Hayner Distilling Company was established in 1866, and has a capital of $500,000, paid in full. The officers are W. M. Hayner, president; W. S. Kidder, vice president; S. L. Geisinger, secretary, and W. F. Dolke, treasurer. Our distillery is located at Troy, Ohio, and is officially known in United States government records as 'Hayner's Registered Distillery, No. 2, Tenth District.' Our main offices and shipping depot are at Dayton, Ohio, with branch offices and shipping depots at St. Louis, Mo.; St. Paul, Minn., and Atlanta, Ga.

"We are independent of trusts and combines. We sell to consumers only, never to saloon keepers or dealers, and have an exclusively family trade. We are the largest bottlers of whisky in the world. We have over 300,000 satisfied customers, distributed throughout every state and territory in the union. We always have stored in our ware houses in connection with our distillery from 1,250,000 to 1,500,000 gallons of whisky, aging and getting into prime condition to be marketed—more than enough to give every person in the United States a big drink of Hayner whisky. It takes five of the ordinary 'quarts' to make a gallon, but a Hayner quart is a full quart, an honest quart of 32 ounces, four quarts to the gallon.

"Government statistics show that the famous Miami valley in Ohio produces better grain and has purer water than any other section of this country. It is nature's garden. Right in the heart of this favored spot is our distillery. We have at our very door the two essentials for producing the finest whisky in the world—the best grain and the purest water. Add to these one of the largest and most completely equipped distilleries ever operated and an experience of 36 years in distilling whisky and you have a combination that is unequaled anywhere. Much of the grain we use is grown on our own 28 farms, all situated within a few miles of our distillery. What we have to buy is delivered at our door by the Miami valley farmers. We, therefore, save all freight and handling charges. We use better grain, and it costs us less, than any other distiller in this country. That's why we are in a position to distill and sell the finest whisky in the world cheaper than anybody else.

"The proper ripening or aging of whisky depends on the care and method of storage. Our warehouses are of the most modern and improved style, constructed entirely of brick and steel and equipped with the hot air system of heating and ventilating, which keeps the whisky at a uniform temperature the year around. As a result our seven-year-old is as fully matured as fourteen-year-old aged in the ordinary way, and it's better, too, for an uneven temperature of extreme heat and cold destroys the quality.

"Uncle Sam, in the person of ten of his government officials, is always in charge of every department of our distillery. During the entire process of distillation, after the whisky is stored in barrels in our warehouses, during the years it remains there, from the very grain we buy to the whisky you get, Uncle Sam is constantly on the watch. We dare not take a gallon of our own whisky from our own warehouse unless he says it's all right. And when he does say so that whisky goes direct to you, with all its original strength, richness and flavor, carrying a UNITED STATES REGISTERED DISTILLER'S GUARANTEE of PURITY and AGE, and saving the dealer's enormous profits. That's why HAYNER WHISKY is the best for medicinal purposes. That's why it is preferred for other uses.

"When you buy whisky from a dealer, you pay five profits, though four of them can be avoided. The distiller distils the whisky under the United States government supervision and when it leaves him it is absolutely pure. The government sees to that. All distillers, except ourselves, sell in barrels to brokers, who sell, also in barrels, though in smaller lots, to rectifiers. The rectifier may take the pure whisky out of the barrels, blend it, water it, adulterate it, 'doctor' it as much as he likes, for the government has no control over whisky after it once leaves the distiller, and then bottle it and sell to wholesale dealers, who in turn sell to retail dealers, from whom you buy. You thus pay the enormous and unnecessary profits of the broker, the rectifier, the whoesaler and the retailer. You pay at least double our price and at the same time get 'doctored' whisky.

"We are the only distillers in this country selling direct to consumers and we are the originators of the plan. Like every success, we have imitators who claim to be distillers. They are not distillers and have no connection with a distillery. For proof see government reports, which give a list of every distillery in the United States. You won't find the name of any of our imitators in this list, but you will find 'Hayner.' They are simply dealers, who must buy every gallon of whisky they sell and, being dealers, they can 'doctor' their whisky as much as they like and call it any age, for, as above stated, the government unfortunately does not control dealers as it does distillers. Now, these dealers are in business for profit, so when they offer eight to twelve year old whisky for the same or less money than we, as distillers, can sell seven year old, the inference is plain. Their whisky is not the age they claim and is adulterated and watered. The cheaper they sell, the more water and adulteration you get.

"On account of the present immense volume of our constantly increasing business and to enable us to give our tens of thousands of customers in Atlanta and throughout the south much quicker and better service, we have just opened up branch offices, shipping depot and retail salesroom at 51 Decatur street, Atlanta, with Mr. J. P. Gore in charge. This store is not a saloon, as positively no drinking will be allowed on the premises. We sell Hayner whisky by the bottle only, in original packages, direct from our own distillery, thereby insuring genuineness and purity. We keep in stock, merely for the convenience of our customers, a very select line of wines, brandies, gins, rums and other liquors, which we buy in immense quantities direct from the oldest and most celebrated foreign and domestic producers and sell at first cost. We sell bottle goods only and all orders out of the city are shipped in plain sealed cases, with no marks or brands of any kind to indicate contents. We prepay the express charges on all orders of four quarts and over. We guarantee perfect satisfaction in every instance or the goods may be returned at our expense and the money paid thereon will be promptly and cheerfully refunded. City orders by telephone, Main 265, will have prompt attention and be delivered free. Terms strictly cash.

"For further information see our announcements in The Constitution. We extend a cordial invitation to the people of Atlanta and the south to visit our new store, even if they don't want to buy.

JUDGE J. W. HARRIS DIES AT CARTERSVILLE HOME

Cartersville, Ga., October 14.—(Special.) The death of Judge J. W. Harris occurred at his home today at 11:45 o'clock.

Though the death of Judge Harris has been expected almost daily for a week, it came as a great shock to the people of Cartersville. Judge Harris has never been strong since he had a spell of sickness in July of last year, which the physicians pronounced appendicitis and once contemplated an operation, which was finally abandoned, and he seemed to survive his trouble to find himself susceptible to troubles and derangements occasionally, superinduced by slight indiscretions of diet or little exposures. He took his bed some three weeks ago and the physicians pronounced the leading feature tuberculosis meningitis. From this he grew unconscious and remained practically so to the end.

Judge Harris was one of the master minds of this part of the state and there are few men in Georgia whose loss will be more keenly felt. His was a genius that towered above the common. As legislator, as pleader, solicitor and judge he had evinced that he was the equal of the ablest and with these he carried the valued graces of the courteous gentleman. In north Georgia he was perhaps generally recognized as the best criminal lawyer of the section, and his services were in demand from Atlanta to the state line.

He was born in Bartow county, being the son of the late Colonel J. W. Harris, a well known lawyer and true type of the cultured southern gentleman. He graduated from the state university about the year 1870. Admitted to the bar, he at once exhibited signal ability and was soon elected solicitor general of the Cherokee circuit, which place he filled for eight years. He was elected to the senate from the forty-third district about the year 1888, serving one term. He was appointed judge of the city court by Governor Atkinson and his decisions were notable for their clearness and wisdom. He ran for congress against Judge Maddox several years ago and the strong vote of his home people was a great tribute to his fitness.

He was a member of the Methodist church, prominent in the Masonic order and member of the Knights of Pythias.

The bar of Cartersville met at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon and arranged to attend the funeral as an escort.

The funeral will occur tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Judge Harris is survived by his widow and six children. He had one sister living, Mrs. T. W. Milner, of this city.

Two Sad Deaths.

Rev. W. T. McMichael died at Screven yesterday. He was a superannuated Methodist preacher, 75 years old, and known all over south Georgia.

NEW MAIL TRAIN TO START NOV. 2

Will Carry Only Mail Cars East of Atlanta.

Details of the New Schedule—Old Directors and Officers of Central of Georgia Reelected. Other Railway News of Interest.

The new fast mail train between New York and New Orleans via Atlanta will be put into service on Sunday, November 2.

This decision was reached at a meeting of officials of the different lines interested held in Washington Monday. The question of inaugurating the new train has been under discussion for some time, and while it was definitely decided to put it on, the inauguration of the service has been delayed by the number of matters that have come up for settlement in connection with it.

The train is to leave New York at 2:15 a. m. It will leave Washington at 8 a. m., reaching Atlanta at 11:12 p. m. over the Southern. The stop here will be very short, as the Atlanta and West Point will have a train ready to take up the connection. The train will reach New Orleans at 10:30 o'clock the next morning.

The Southern will put on a night train between Atlanta and Birmingham to connect with the mail flyer. It will leave Atlanta at 11:30 p. m., reaching Birmingham the next morning at 6. Returning, this train will leave Birmingham at 11:20 p. m., reaching Atlanta at 6 a. m.

East of Atlanta this train will carry only mail and express equipment and there will be no east-bound train corresponding to the mail flyer. The mail equipment will be routed back on the other trains.

South and west of Atlanta the trains will carry full passenger equipment, coaches and sleepers, in addition to the mail cars, and will be a great improvement in train service from Atlanta to points in the west and southwest.

KILLED TWO MEN; WOUNDED THIRD

Perry Mitchell Uses Gun With Deadly Effect at Madison.

Walter Booth and Aubrey Hamby Are Shot to Death and Negro Gets Bullet in Arm—Whisky Is Said to Have Caused Killing.

Madison, Ga., October 14.—(Special.)—Perry Mitchell, a young white man, living in the upper part of the county, shot and killed Walter Booth, of this city, and Aubry Hamby, of Fair Play, both white, this afternoon.

Booth was shot through the heart, and died instantly. Hamby was shot several times in the body and died from his wounds shortly afterward. There were five shots fired by Mitchell. A stray ball from Mitchell's revolver struck a negro and inflicted a very severe wound in his left arm.

After the shooting Mitchell was caught and lodged in jail.

The cause of the trouble seems to have been a falling out between Mitchell and Hamby over some whisky. Both were drinking and it is impossible to tell, at this time, who was in the wrong.

The killing of Booth was accidental, as Hamby claims he had nothing against Booth. All the parties are prominent in the county.

A large crowd was in town today to see Walter Main's circus and the shooting has caused a great deal of excitement.

KIDNAPED HIS OWN CHILD

That Is the Charge Preferred Against Alexander Young.

New York, October 14.—Alexander Young, corporation counsel of Hudson county, New Jersey, was arrested tonight on a charge of kidnapping his child, preferred by his divorced wife, Mrs Louise McAllister Young, a niece of Ward McAllister, and until midnight was detained at a police station.

Mrs. Young, who was granted a divorce on August 28, was given the custody of their little daughter. She charges that on Monday, while the child, with its nurse, was standing at Fifth avenue and Forty-fifth street, Mr. Young came up in a cab. He jumped out, and, telling the nurse, whom he knew, that he intended taking the baby for a ride, drove off with it.

The nurse waited several hours for him to return and when he did not reported the matter to Mrs. Young. She immediately consulted her lawyer and Young's arrest followed.

Pending the divorce proceedings Mr. Young obtained possession of the child and took her to Connecticut. Mrs. Young went there and took the child away. The affair of Monday was the third time the child has been kidnapped.

Charlotte, N. C., October 14.—(Special.)—R. O. Colt, a member of the famous Colt family of gunmakers, who makes his home in Charlotte, was slapped in the face on the street this afternoon by a pretty actress, Miss Grace Hobart Hanson, a member of "The Tyranny of Tears" company, which filled an engagement at the Academy tonight. Mr. Colt was walking beside the lady along the street. When she reached the main entrance of the Central hotel the young woman burst into tears and as suddenly drew back her hand and slapped Colt full in the face. She then quickly entered the hotel, while the crowd of traveling men and guests around the hotel entrance applauded her.

HIS PUNISHMENT SELF INFLICTED

E. A. Schroeder Kills Himself On Train Near Jacksonville.

"Cup of Happiness Was at My Lips, But I Refused to Drink," Was Message to Public Found On Body—Put Bullet Into His Brain.

Waycross, Ga., October 14.—(Special.)—E. A. Schroeder, of number 172 Seventy-second street, New York city, committed suicide in a Pullman sleeper near Jacksonville, Fla., today. He gave every appearance of refinement and prosperity.

This morning when train No. 32 left for the north he got on board. Before the train started Schroeder walked leisurely onto the platform. Just as the train pulled out of the depot he went into the drawing room and locked the door. Before the train had proceeded half a mile from the Union station the porter heard a pistol shot and upon investigation Schroeder was found dead with a bullet hole in his brain.

The body was laying in a pool of blood, the head resting against one of the man's sample cases. The revolver was laying on the floor near by with one chamber empty. The body was brought to Waycross and turned over to an undertaker for burial.

In his pockets were found $115 in cash, a check for $100, fine gold watch and chain, railroad and sleeping car tickets to New York, two letters addressed to his wife, Mrs. E. A. Schroeder, and a letter addressed "To the Public." The contents of the letter was as follows:

"I have committed a horrible crime and for that crime mete out for myself the punishment which the law cannot inflict. My wife is a good woman and had it not been for my cruelty she would not have left me. The cup of happiness was at my lips, but I refused to drink.

"E. A. SCHROEDER."

Another slip of paper contained the following:

"Notify W. A. H. Stafford, 172 West Twenty-second street; F. M. Argumber, 178 Water street, and Mrs. E. A. Schroeder, 178 Water street, New York."

The man appeared to have been about 35 years of age. He was smooth shaven and was slightly greater than medium height and build. His clothes were of fashionable cut and were of best quality. Steamship tags on his luggage indicated that he had made at least one trip across the ocean.

Schroeder's friends and relatives in New York have been notified of his death and the body was forwarded to that point tonight.

TAP ON TRACK CAUSES WRECK

Over High Trestle Wheels of Trucks Run On the Cross Ties.

PROBABLY PLACED ON RAIL BY THOUGHTLESS BOY

Southern's Washington and Atlanta Fast Mail Train is Saved From Destruction By the Quick Work of the Engineer at Greensboro.

Greensboro, N. C., October 14.—(Special.)—Train No. 36, the Southern's Washington and Atlanta fast mail, had its engine partly derailed this afternoon within the city limits while running at a high rate of speed. The front trucks of the engine left the track and rolled along on the cross ties for over a block, the engine being finally stopped just as it passed over a high trestle.

The passengers did not discover, until the train had stopped, that anything unusual had happened, but a serious accident was only narrowly averted.

The cause of the accident was found to be an iron tap, placed on one of the rails, presumably by a thoughtless boy, who wanted to see the effect on the tap of a heavy train passing over it.

Railroad officials found the tap and are looking for the boy.

GREAT MISSION OF COMMISSION

Association of Southern Railroad Commissioners Meets.

Stand Between the People On One Hand and Railroads On the Other — Resolution Condemning Crossings Is Adopted.

Hot Springs, Ark., October 14.—The Association of Southern Railroad Commissioners convened here this afternoon. In the absence of President C. C. McChord, of Louisville, Vice President N. W. Baptist, of Tennessee, was made chairman of the meeting. John H. Webb, of Mississippi, discharged the duties of secretary.

The roll call showed that the states of Arkansas, Alabama, Mississippi, Virginia and Texas were represented at the meeting.

Chairman Baptist was presented to the convention and proceeded, in the absence of President McChord, to address it. He said state railroad commissions were new institutions in the country, but had accomplished great good and were of material benefit to both the railroads and the people.

Hon. John H. Reagan, of Texas, addressed the convention. He said the position of a railroad commission was a peculiar one. It stood between the people on the one hand and the railroad on the other, and the purpose was to prevent discrimination on the part of the railroads against the people and, at the same time, protect the railroads against unjust legislation. In a word, to regulate the traffic between the railroads and their patrons, the public. The railroads, he said, should be made to obey the law and respect the rights of the people. He thought they were the greatest instruments for the development of the prosperity of the country.

J. McGinnis, of Mississippi, offered a resolution, which was unanimously adopted, as follows:

"Resolved, That the president of this convention be requested to appoint a committee of three to draft a resolution as to be the sense of this meeting touching the bills before the congress of the United States increasing the powers of the interstate commerce commission."

Messrs. McGinnis, of Mississippi; Smith, of Alabama, and Handley, of Arkansas, were appointed as such committee.

The following was adopted:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of the Association of Southern Railroad Commissioners that each state enact such laws as will result, as far as practicable, in the abolition of all grade crossings or the adoption of such systems of interlocking or other safety devices, where such crossings cannot be abolished as may be necessary to protect persons and property from damage from such crossings."

Freight Traffic Officials.

Memphis, Tenn., October 14.—The Mississippi Valley-Southeastern Association, composed of freight traffic officials embraced in the lines of railroads east of the Mississippi river and south of the Ohio and Potomac rivers, met here this afternoon.

Chairman M. T. Washburn presided. The session was held behind closed doors, and, after adjournment, Mr. Washburn stated that the question of rates was not considered. The afternoon was spent in discussing modes of procedure in the rate question and committees were appointed to look into the matter.

Tomorrow the association will meet with the Southeastern Freight Association for a conference.

FREE TO EVERYONE.

A Priceless Book Sent Free for the Asking.

"There be books and books," some edifying, others entertaining, and still others instructive. The average man is so busily engaged in the labor of money-making that he has little time and less inclination for books which instruct; hence when he feels out of sorts, either he gives no heed to Nature's warning, or he consults a physician, at an expense which a little knowledge would have enabled him to avoid. There is probably no complaint upon which the public is so little informed as hemorrhoids, or piles; this little book tells all about their nature, cause and cure; it treats of the different forms of blind, bleeding, itching and protruding piles, describes their symptoms, and points the way to a cure so simple and inexpensive that any one can understand and apply. The importance of promptness and thoroughness is vital, for the disease will not cure itself and Nature, alone, unaided, will not accomplish a cure, while the consequences are too painful for detailed description. You are told how piles originate, the reason for their appearance usually being that some of the rules of correct living have been violated, and (what is more to the point) how you may rid yourself of this bane of human existence. All affections of the rectum are treated in simple, plain language, so that all may understand, and learn how the cause may be removed. Many people suffer from piles because after trying the numerous lotions, ointments and salves that are on the market, without relief, they come to the conclusion that a surgical operation is the only thing left to try, and rather than submit to the shock and risk to life of an operation, prefer to suffer on. This little book tells how this may be avoided, and a cure be effected without pain, inconvenience or detention from business. Write your name and address plainly on a postal card, mail to the Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., and you will receive the book by return mail.

COULD NOT SLEEP--GAINED 35 POUNDS

Gentlemen:—Six weeks ago I commenced taking your Duffy's Malt Whiskey. Previous to that time I was completely run down in health from want of sleep, poor appetite, and weighing only 121 pounds. Since then my restoration to health has been wonderful. I now weigh 153 pounds, sleep well and have a good appetite. I never felt better in all my life. I have recommended your whiskey to several of my friends, and they have used it with like result.—Louis Ward, 284 Davison St., New York.

Caution.—When you ask for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey be sure you get the genuine. Unscrupulous dealers, mindful of the excellence of this preparation, will try to sell you cheap imitations and so-called Malt Whiskey substitutes, which are put on the market for profit only, and which far from relieving the sick, are positively harmful. Demand "Duffy's" and be sure you get it. It is the only absolutely pure malt whiskey which contains medicinal, health-giving qualities. Look for the trade-mark, "The Old Chemist," on the label.

The genuine at all druggists and grocers or direct, $1.00 a bottle. It is the only whiskey recognized by the government as a medicine. This is a guarantee. Valuable medical booklet containing symptoms and treatment of disease and convincing testimonials sent free to any reader of this paper who will write Duffy Malt Whiskey Company, Rochester, N. Y.

Savannah, Ga., October 14.—(Special.)—The Farmers' National Congress, 200 strong, reached Savannah this afternoon, via the Macon, Dublin and Savannah and the Seaboard Air Line.

The visitors were met at the station by a committee of Savannahians, who escorted them to the DeSoto, where lunch was had. Later the pilot boat, J. H. Estill, left for a trip to the sea, with the majority of the visitors aboard. Others, among them some of the farmers who feared an attack of mal de mer, went to the Casino, a resort at Thunderbolt on the Salts near the city, where an oyster roast was enjoyed. Refreshments were served for the passengers aboard the pilot boat. Speeches were made, all the farmers expressing themselves as well pleased with the entertainment and charmed by their visit to Savannah.

At the DeSoto tonight a cane was presented by the congress to President Dudley M. Hughes, of the Georgia Agricultural Society. The visitors will leave tomorrow morning for Macon. The Central Railway has invited them to take a trip to the National Cemetery and Andersonville.

HIS OLD FATHER IS HEARTBROKEN

Uriah Traphagen Takes Body of Suicide to New York from Savannah.

Savannah, Ga., October 14.—(Special.)—Uriah Traphagen, of Newburgh, N. Y., reached Savannah this morning, being called here by the news of the suicide of his son, Alfred Traphagen, alias Albert Taft, who shot himself through the heart at the Hotel DeSoto last Saturday night.

The elder Traphagen was almost heartbroken over the death of his son, a mere lad. The boy was but eighteen, the father said, and for a month his parents had not known of his whereabouts. He had been employed by one of the big department stores of New York, from which he had disappeared without leaving any intimation of his purpose. It is said that he was defaulter to the amount of $1,000, his own story having indicated such a shortage. He unburdened himself to the local superintendent of the Young Men's Christian Association, whom he apprised of his desire to reform.

A woman of the half world, with whom he had been infatuated, is said to have been the lure that brought him south.

The father left today for the north, accompanying the remains.

No true woman's heart is happy which does not ring with the echo of childish laughter, which fails to thrill at the touch of a soft dimpled hand which is flesh of her flesh.

To those who crave motherhood, and through terror at the thought of so much suffering, deprive themselves of it, we say "Be of good cheer—help is here." MOTHER'S FRIEND has made child bearing easy for thousands of women in the last forty years, and receives their hearty endorsement, not only on account of its efficacy but also because it is a pleasant balm for external application only, and not a bitter dose of drugs to be swallowed. By its use you may escape morning sickness, swelling breasts and many of the usual discomforts of pregnancy. MOTHER'S FRIEND eases the nerves, relaxes the muscles, and softens the abdominal tissues, so that they give with the pressure from the expanding organ.

A Very Natural Demand.

The demand of the people of south Georgia to be made sharers in the benefits of the new fast mail service from the east is a very natural one and not, as alleged, a "remarkable" one. The people of that large region south and west of Macon, and reaching into Alabama, pay their share of the $175,000 that the government is paying for this expedited mail service and it is but reasonable that their demand should be heeded, or that they should seek through their representatives in congress to know why they are ignored when their necessities were so strongly urged in support of granting this same subsidy.

Our esteemed contemporary, The Macon Telegraph, seems to think this whole question can be resolved by a slight change of the leaving time from Atlanta of the Southern through train from Cincinnati to Brunswick. If the people on the stretch from Macon to Brunswick only were interested in getting this new service, we could agree with its view entirely. As a matter of course the Southern will delay here long enough to pick up the fast mail for that line, and so give its patrons between Macon and Brunswick their mails six to nine hours sooner than now.

But the greater interests involved lie along the lines of the great brachiated system of the Central of Georgia's Southwestern division, which begins at Macon and ramifies a quarter of the state of Georgia and much of southeastern Alabama. To properly and efficiently carry this service to those sections it must begin at Atlanta, co-ordinating mail and passenger service, by filling the short link of a hundred miles from here to Macon with a train leaving Atlanta at an hour that will give it immediate connection with the branches of the Southwestern division at Macon. This is the compact, common-sense, business-like arrangement that is asked for and cannot be denied with any equitable excuse.

As to the people of south Georgia getting their northern mail by the Coast Line and Savannah, the fact remains that by the new service to commence on the 19th and by the early Central train out of Atlanta, for which they ask, the people of that section, of Thomasville, Albany, Bainbridge and other important business centers, would get their commercial correspondence via Atlanta from twelve to twenty-four hours sooner than by the Coast Line. And yet we are asked to believe that they are unmindful of these advantages.

Southern Georgia, and particularly the southwestern section, which is almost wholly dependent upon the Central of Georgia system of roads, is developing in population and prosperous business interests more rapidly than any other section of the state. It has done so for ten years past. The Atlanta chamber of commerce knows the facts and how the business relations between the capital of the state and those points of trade and distribution have augmented. To serve them as they should be the chamber of commerce took up this matter and in the demand for the early schedule have the support of the business interests of the south Georgia people.

It is not a question of newspaper rivalry. Let what newspapers—those of Macon, Atlanta, Cincinnati or New York—get there as they may, but the general public wants its full rights in a mail service and a subsidy that was pleaded for in their name.

Nor is it a threat to say that if they are wantonly denied these rights they will appeal to the power that grants the subsidy to see that it does the work for which it is voted. It was not given to maintain only a quick mail service between New York and New Orleans, but to distribute that service equally throughout the south. And south Georgia will not tamely submit to be the only section cut off from the service and wholly ignored by the receivers of that subsidy.

Judge Griggs as a Leader.

The present campaign of the congressional democratic committee has been one of the most thorough-going and promising that the party has experienced in many years. At first the republican experts were disposed to be facetious over the election to the chairmanship of the committee of a Georgia cracker congressman who had not previously won his spurs as a national political leader. For the moment they forgot that Georgia has always been one of the foremost schools of statesmanship in the south and that the cracker always plays politics for keeps!

Since the campaign opened the republicans, and, sooth to say, many national democrats, have been awakened to the fact that a James Fitz James had crossed the track of the roystering republican Rhoderick Dhu! Congressman Griggs took up his work with an understanding and an aggression that could not be mistaken or under-estimated. The republican committee opposing him have found that whichever way it turns Griggs has anticipated them. They find themselves put everywhere on the defensive and already they begin to feel the rocking of the earth beneath their feet.

At this stage of the campaign it really seems inevitable that the democrats will win a majority of the members of the next house of representatives and will thus be enabled, not to complete legislation, but to defeat such as may be republican and bad, and to initiate proposals that will indicate to the people the programme of the democracy.

In that event no man can be regarded as worthier of recognition as the legitimate leader of the party than Congressman Griggs, who organized and fought the battle to a victorious finish. He will become in the house, as in his district, the logical successor of the lamented ex-Speaker Charles Frederick Crisp. And in the van of the party no man in sight would offer safer guaranties of loyalty, fidelity to duty and wisdom in leadership than Congressman Griggs. He is a strong man for public affairs and stands four-square as a democrat of the true-blue order.

We believe the foremost men of the party think as we have written and that when the hour arrives to designate the party leader in congress, whether to preside for a majority or be spokesman for a powerful minority, the name of our gallant Georgian, Judge Griggs, will lead all the rest.

England's Great Political Issue.

With the reassembling of Britain's parliament near at hand, no small degree of interest the world over centers in the great education bill fight upon which the Balfour ministry will stand or fall. The liberal party, relegated to the political background by the mad martial spirit of the British people, now happily calmed with the Boer surrender, is making its campaign for rehabilitation and reinstatement upon this single issue. There are many who believe that, despite the government's majority of practically 150 in the house of commons, the ministry is in danger, and the activity in administration circles at present would seem to indicate that the tories are at least anxious. A dissolution and an appeal to the country before Christmas is regarded as a possibility. Lord Londonderry, a cabinet minister, admits that there is a possibility of an early general election.

That the education bill is a powerful political card for the liberals to play has been demonstrated in recent by-elections. The tide of popular sentiment is undoubtedly running high against the measure as advocated by the government, for it is calculated to provoke religious and class hostility to the zeal of a crusade, and some of its provisions are inimical to the British conception of constitutional liberty. While in some respects the proposed statute is too complex for American comprehension, its essential feature lies in the proposition to support church schools by general taxation. Local educational boards are given authority to take control of "voluntary" schools when deemed advisable and support them from the public educational fund. As the "voluntary" school is in the main a Church of England institution, the education bill forces nonconformists and nonchurch people generally to support distinctively sectarian schools. As at present organized, the school boards are elected by the tax payers, but it is proposed to replace them with school committees appointed by the municipal body. Thus the taxpayers will be deprived of direct control—a provision designed to augment the power of the Church of England by virtually turning over the educational system of the empire to the established church.

Naturally religionists of a contrary view, and all men who deprecate the union of church and state, are arrayed against the bill in solid phalanx. The liberal party represents their opposing attitude, holding that the principle of clerical domination in a purely secular matter is vicious and mischievous. The weak clauses of the bill are singled out for attack, and it is obvious that the liberal contention is both just and popular. The religious feeling is so bitter against the government measure that nonconformists declare, should it pass, that they will refuse to pay their school tax assessment. It is pointed out that such a course, quite generally followed, would wreck the ministry, since the government cold not afford to send reputable citizens to jail en masse for resisting a grossly sectarian law. Singularly enough, the English Catholics, under the leadership of Cardinal Vaughn and the duke of Norfolk, have made common cause with the English churchmen. It is roughly estimated that the voluntary schools now conducted in England by the Catholic church will receive £200,000 from local taxation if the education bill is passed without material amendment. However, the Irish nationalists, who individually are Catholics, threaten stubborn opposition to the measure, under the lead of Redmond. There are, too, many liberals of the Church of England, who oppose the bill on the ground that it is reactionary in character.

If the overthrow of the ministry comes through Balfour's insistence that the education bill be pushed to passage without conciliatory compromises, the result will be largely brought about from the defection of tories who are unable to vote for it, a most unlikely development. Of course, there have been defections from the liberal unionists, but that enough of them will return to their old party to endanger the government is not expected. They are with the tories for place and power. A dissolution on account of the education bill would mean their extinction as a body. The liberals are making few overtures to them, as they are bitterly regarded as renegades.

The chairman of the Congregational Union of England and Wales asserts that he will stake his reputation that the education bill will prove "the Sedan" of the ministry. The odds, however, seem to be entirely in favor of the government winning its fight, if skillfully handled.

Naming the Public Schools.

In many cities of the country the happy idea of giving public schools suggestive names has been adopted. The usual thing is to designate them with the names of men or women distinguished in local, state or national history. The names of Washington, Jefferson, Webster, Lincoln, Franklin and like famous Americans are frequently seen upon the facades of school buildings in the larger cities.

There are manifest good reasons for thus dignifying these educational buildings. It is in itself educative to youth to associate school days with the name of an illustrious exemplar rather than to know oneself simply as a pupil of the Ivy street, or Fair street, or Marietta street school.

Principal Slaton, of the Boys' High school, is doing a genuinely patriotic and stimulative work in collecting upon the walls of that institution the portraits of Georgians eminent in many lines of large public service. There are no measurements by which we can estimate the inspirations the faces and fame of those men may give to the young Georgians who study and cultivate ambitions for the future beneath such portraits.

In like manner it would be of value—how much no man can say—to put the names of eminent Georgians and southerners upon the school houses of the city. Oglethorpe and Stephens, and Toombs and Ben Hill, and Gordon and Grady! These names would in large measure become exemplary to the children and stir them in plastic years to emulations that would after ripen into character, ambition and achievement.

The Knoxville Sentinel recently issued a trade carnival edition of thirty-two pages that is a model of publishing enterprise. It supplies in graphic and appreciable forms all the essential details of the history, growth and phenomenal commercial and industrial developments of the east Tennessee capital. Certainly The Sentinel has done its city and constituency a valuable service that they will not be slow to appreciate and reward.

THE PASSING THRONG.

Ultima Veradicta.

"Do you know that the saints shall judge the world?"—St. Paul.

In those great councils of the just
Beyond the brawl of earth,
What judgments do they hold in trust
Of mortals and their worth?

Who are the pure? Would they declare
'Tis they who live for self?
Or those whose faith is strong to fare
Above the paths of pelf?

Who are the brave? Would they proclaim
Them so who fight for ruth?
Or those who wreck not human fame
And fight alone for truth?

Who are the good? Would they decide
'Tis only sinless men?
Or those who fall and rise to bide
In hope and try again?

Who are the great? Would they decree
'Tis those the world acclaims?
Or they who live in charity
And seek eternal aims?

Somewhere, some time, the saints will speak
With righteousness divine,
And I shall find what yet I seek—
The judgment that is mine!

Hard Pan Preaching.

Those who wish to hear preaching of the plain gospel in every day terms and for every day purposes have that chance now while Rev. Joe Jones, brother of Sam Jones, is conducting two services a day at the Jones Avenue Baptist church. If Sam Jones is famous for "calling a spade a spade," Joe is even more noted for just saying shovel when shovel it is. He has traveled for years in a quiet way all over the union, holding meetings and producing results of the most significant sort. In many southern towns he has brought about a complete revolution in favor of good morals and civic cleanness. His speech is blunt as a meat ax, but his spirit is meek and his zeal set upon the noblest ideals of manhood and womanhood. It will well repay saint or sinner to go and hear him.

An Old President's Return.

Hon. John H. Rice, one of the old-time Atlantans, was a visitor in the city for the past few days and for the first time in twenty years. He was the founder of the Franklin printing house, of this city, before the civil war and sold in 1860 to the late Colonel George W. Adair the familiar Adair homestead at West End. Yesterday he remarked that Atlanta had changed most marvellously and about the only places he could recognize as familiar were the Atlanta national bank building and, of course, the carshed. He removed to Fort Scott, Kans., in 1865, and has since been a newspaper editor and a railroad builder. But it seemed to do him good to be back in Atlanta and meet many of those with whom he associated in the olden time.

A Ponce de Leon Landmark.

Colonel Reuben Arnold has discovered on his picturesque estate at Hapeville one of the landmark stones set by the expedition of Ponce de Leon when he was making his way across Georgia after turning westward from the vicinity of Athens and was seeking the "Father of Waters" in the indefinite west. The stone is of peculiar shape and so placed and marked as to show its purpose, in line with other stones, to show the progress of the march to followers, or to enable the expedition to retrace its route if necessary. Colonel Arnold is quite proud of this ancient relic among his possessions.

The McKinley Fund.

Elbert Ward, of Marion, Ohio, at the Interstate fair yesterday, asked:

"What has become of the movement begun here in Atlanta on the death of President McKinley to erect a monument to his memory? Do you know when the news of that proposal spread over Ohio it produced a profound and favorable impression of the south, and especially of the patriotism of Atlanta. I would like to know how far the movement has progressed, for I am sure when I go home our newspapers would be glad to publish that it is still in contemplation to honor our great and lamented citizen with a monument in this typical southern capital."

Something Not to Be Missed.

Mrs. Evan P. Howell, to whose faith and efforts is due the praise of building the West End Christian church, said yesterday:

"We are yet a little in debt for our church and we want to get out of that embarrassment. As one means we are to give a grand concert and popular lecture at the Tabernacle, kindly tendered by Dr. Broughton, on Thursday evening, the 23d. Some of the most accomplished vocalists and musicians of the city have volunteered their aid, and one of our popular speakers will give a thirty minutes lecture that will please all who hear it. Now, beg the people to give us a large and profitable audience."

A Derelict from the South.

Last night while the wind was doing a chilly stunt across Broad street bridge a small bunch of boyhood trotted alongside the scribe and said:

"Mister?"

"Well, bud, what is it?"

"Please, sir, I'm lost. I'm dead off my reckonin' for sure. I don't belong in this town an' I'm cold, an' hungry, an' got nowher's to sleep."

"Where do you hail from?"

"N'Yorleens. I cums up here deadhead, see, with some hosses on the freights, an' got my peck with the 'oslers fer helpin' 'em, but when we got here they gimme the razor-toe, an' I'm busted!"

He was helped for the emergency and, lifting his cap, said:

"Thankee, boss! They told me this was a hot town, but they wuz jest a givin' me a hot air tamale. I pulls my freight back to N'Yorleans tomorrer."

Mr. Atkinson, Please Loop de Loop.

It was unanimously agreed by the residents of Pine street who were on the jerkwater car between Piedmont avenue and the Boulevard that Mr. Atkinson ought to run the track through Pine from the Boulevard to Angier avenue and Pine street so as to make a loop line and greatly increase his popularity and the patronage of the line. Mr. Atkinson, it is up to you to say!

Old Si On the Horse Show.

Old Si had no extra demand to make yesterday for an advance on his wages.

"I suppose you are not going to the horse show tonight?" inquired the editor.

"Not dis nigger—no, sah! Fum all de adfertizements in de sto' windows dat show is pitched 'way yander ahead ob ennything dat we darkies kin projeck wid. But when hit cums ter er contes' twixt which nigger kin plow de longes' an' straites' row wid a one-eyed mule, er cum in las' in a slow race on jacks, den you'll see me wid my plug hat an' jimswinger cote war'in de blue ribbon in frunt er de gran' stan'!"

And he went off chuckling at his own conceit.

KNOX TALKS OF TRUSTS; CLEVELAND OF DEMOCRACY

ATTORNEY-GENERAL POINTS TO A REMEDY

Pittsburg, October 14.—Attorney General Knox addressed the members of the Chamber of Commerce at the Hotel Schenley tonight. There were 700 guests present. The subject of his address was the "Commerce Clause of the Constitution and the Trusts." Mr. Knox was afterwards entertained by W. H. Keech, chairman of the commitee in charge of the meeting.

Address of Mr. Knox.

Attorney General Knox began his address as follows:

"The people, by common consent, have denominated the great industrial and other corporations now controlling many branches of commercial business, trusts. The technical accuracy of the term is unimportant, but, indeed, it is much more apt than might be supposed, when it is recalled that the essential difference between the old industrial trusts and the great corporations owning and controlling subsidiary ones is that in respect to the former the shares of independent corporations agreeing to act in harmony were lodged with a trustee who received the separate earnings and distributed them among the holders of trust certificates, while as to the latter, a corporation is created to take over the title to the stock or properties of the constituent companies and issue its own shares as the evidence of interest in the combination. The corporation owner of corporations invokes specific legal authority from the legislature of the state under which it is created.

"That there are evils and abuses in trust promotions, purposes, organizations, methods, management, and effects none questions except those who have profited by those evils. That all or any of these abuses are to be found in every large organization called a trust no one would assert who valued his reputation for sane judgment.

"The conspicuous noxious features of trusts existent and possible are these: Overcapitalization, lack of publicity of operation, discrimination in prices to destroy competition, insufficient personal responsibility of officers and directors for corporate management; tendency to monopoly and lack of appreciation in their management of their relations to the people, for whose benefit they are permitted to exist.

"Corporations and joint stock or other associations, depending upon any statutory law for their existence or privileges, trading beyond their own states, should be required to do business in every state and locality upon precisely the same terms and conditions. There should be no discrimination in prices; no preference in service. Such corporations serving the public as carriers and in similar capacties should be compelled to keep the avenues of commerce free and open to all upon the same terms and to observe the law as to its injunctions against stifling competition. Moreover, corporations upon which the people depend for the necessaries of life should be required to conduct their business so as regularly and reasonably to supply the public needs.

The Sherman Anti-Trust Law.

It is earnestly contended by many that as it stands this law expresses the limit of federal power in that direction. But has not congress the power by its regulation to protect commerce between the states from being restrained by state corporations and combinations engaged in interstate trade, when their purpose or effect is to destroy the freedom of such interstate trade, and when their operations are besides injurious to the general public?

If the Sherman act exhausts the power of congress over monopolies, the American people find themselves hopelessly impotent, facing a situation fraught with the most alarming possibilities, with which neither the federal nor state government can deal.

While states may regulate the production and sale of articles within their own borders, at these borders their authority ceases.

Jefferson, in his letter of March 15, 1789, to Madison, says of the constitution: "This instrument forms us into one state as to certain objects, and gives us a legislative and executive body for those objects."

One hundred years later the supreme court of the United States declared "that in the matter of interstate commerce the United States are but one country, and are and must be subject to one system of regulations, and not to a multitude of systems."

These are illuminating and vital statements of the original purpose, in founding this government, to provide for national control of intercourse, and of the extent of the national power over it. These statements were made, respectively, by that great leader of the conservative period who was most jealous for the reserved rights of the states against the encroachment of the new national sovereignty, and by one of the wisest judges who have interpreted the constitution's purposes and meaning. In the light of such statements, then, can it be possible that the people of the United States, feeling the pressure of undoubted evils, are nevertheless totally powerless? Is it true that although they know with growing certainty the nature of the wrong and are seeking a remedy, the constitution as it stands does not permit them to pursue it; that amendment to that charter is first necessary; that the power of congress does not now extend over detriments injuring the entire body of citizens in their most vital concerns, because these detriments originate in the states—although the states in the aggregate, and by the cooperation which is essential, do nothing effective to remove them? I do not believe that we find ourselves so helpless. When the currents of monopoly evil obviously flow out over state lines and cover the country, not only entering but largely filling the channels of interstate and foreign trade, it will not do to say that the evil is beyond the national reach, and that because the first step which may lead to the evil is production, which must have a fixed situs within the state, the states alone may deal with it.

If the states are a nation for some purposes, as Jefferson said, with full legislative and executive power, and exclusive regulation of interstate commerce is one of these purposes, as the supreme court has decided, it would seem monstrous to urge that congress and the executive under its authority are powerless and must sit idly by and see the channels of interstate commerce made use of to the injury of the people by monopolistic combinations.

Power of Congress.

Conceding the present law is not effective throughout the situation, we come to the final alternative: May not congress, under the existing constitutional grants, amend and extend the law, and thus remedy its defects and so effectively regulate national and foreign commerce as to prevent the stifling of competition, the regulating of output and price and the restraining of national and international trade? If the answer to this question should be in the affirmative a second question follows: How might congress so amend the present law?

I do not scruple to say that in my judgment the more a thoughtful mind reflects on the first question the more unhesitatingly will an affirmative answer be returned.

At this point Mr. Knox gave a detailed history of the proceedings now pending through his department against the railroad trust, the cotton pool, the beef trust and the Northern Securities merger. Then he continued:

Primarily it is for the congress to decide whether it has the power, and whether and to what extent it will execute it—what character of restraint, whether all or those only which are unreasonable and injurious shall fall under the ban, whether legislation in the first instance should extend to all commerce or only to commerce in articles of vital importance to the people. The time never was when the English-speaking people permitted the articles necessary for their existence to be monopolized or controlled, and all devices to that end found condemnation in the body of their laws. The great English judges pronounced that such manifestations of human avarice required no statute to declare their unlawfulness, that they were crimes against common law—that is, against common right.

It is difficult to improve upon the great unwritten code known as the common law. Under its salutary guaranties and restraints the English-speaking people have attained their wealth and power. It condemns monopoly and contracts in restraint of trade as well. The distinction, however, between restraints that are reasonable in view of all the circumstances and those which are unreasonable is recognized and has been followed in this country by the courts.

We have no certain knowledge of the nature and effect of the natural laws which are carrying forward evolution in economic and social phenomena as in all other branches of biology. But we may be confident that in some sort and with whatever perversions, public policies, constitutional charters of government and municipal laws roughly manifest these natural laws and reflect their main tendencies. Proper free play of forces might be maintained by importing into the situation the idea of "reasonableness" and judicial determination thereof, for the due control of unnecessarily destructive competition, and, for preventing the opposite danger, by devising a system of regulation which would strike the evils of combination at the heart and aid in the great object of restraining hurtful restraints and monopolies, especially as to the prime necessities of life.

FORMER PRESIDENT ADVISES HIS PARTY

New York, October 14.—To a representative of The Evening Post, who asked him his views in regard to the outlook for and the duty of the democracy in the approaching congressional elections, ex-President Grover Cleveland said:

"It seems to me that if the democracy is really in earnest it cannot fail largely to increase its representation in the next congress, but in order to do so I think there must be a constant and stalwart insistence upon the things which are recognized by all to be true democratic doctrines. Of course, by far the most important of these is tariff reform. On this issue I am satisfied that the democracy is face to face with a great opportunity. All of the signs of the times point to a recognition, far beyond all party lines, of the benefits which would accrue to the people by a readjustment of the tariff, and it would be worse than folly for the party under the stress of any temptation, or yielding to any allurement, to permit this to be subordinated to or overshadowed by any other issue.

An Impending Danger.

"The present restlessness in republican circles on this subject, often amounting to protests against republican protective theories, should warn the democracy of an impending danger. I mean by this the possibility that our opponents may crowd us from our position on this subject, if we allow them to do so by our lukewarmness and indifference, and to occupy our ground, just as we permitted them to crowd us from the ground that belonged to us on the question of sound money. I am very much pleased with the deliverance of the New York democracy on the tariff issue, and it was fit and proper that the Empire State should sound the right note. It is my clear conviction that the best assurance of success for the democracy in the next national campaign will be found in a sincere and unremitting insistence upon its oldtime doctrine of a fair and beneficent tariff adjustment. This insistence should be from now on. It need hardly be said that success will depend upon the presentation of tariff doctrine, not only recognized as truly democratic by those who may be termed veterans in the party, but also commending itself to the hosts of the younger men of our land. Thousands of these await the opportunity to espouse a cause which must appeal to disinterested love of country and which is based upon thoughtful regard of all our people and the safety of the institutions under which we live. To these young men no hope is offered for the realization of their patriotic aspirations, except through the conscientious endeavors of the democratic party.

Democrats Need House.

"I am at a loss to understand by what process of reasoning the notion has gained a footing in certain democratic quarters not only that no importance attaches to a democratic ascendancy in the next house of representatives, but even that it might be advantageous to party prospects in 1904 for it to continue in its present minority. Powerful warfare ought to be regarded as continuous, and if the results battled for are worth having at all, they are worthy of our best efforts at all times and under all circumstances. Constant vigilance and unrelenting attack are essential to victory; armies are captured by first driving in the outposts.

"I cannot believe that the bright prospects of the democracy in the present campaign are to be marred by any lack of hard work and strenuous fighting."

STATE MAYORS NOW ORGANIZED

League of Georgia Municipalities Was Formed by Convention Yesterday.

BRIDGES SMITH OF MACON ELECTED TO PRESIDENCY

Delegates Were Entertained By Mayor Mims at the Capital City Club—Later They Visited the Fair and Horse Show.

At the convention of Georgia mayors, the first session of which was held yesterday morning in the council chamber at the city hall, the League of Georgia Municipalities was organized. Forty-five of the principal cities of the state were represented at the convention by their chief executives.

Mayor Bridges Smith, of Macon, was unanimously elected president of the organization, while Mayor D. J. Bailey, of Griffin, was selected as secretary by a complete vote of the meeting. Four vice presidents and a treasurer will be nominated at the second session of the body this morning by a nominating committee. Standing committees will be announced by President Smith this morning.

The matter of constitution and by-laws was referred to a committee composed of Clifford Walker, of Monroe; John K. Davis, of Cedartown, and Z. V. Peacock, of Cochran, the report of the committee being adopted during the morning session. The association has been formed for the purpose of bringing about concerted action on the part of the various towns and cities of the state by which municipal affairs may be conducted with the best results to the people. All municipalities in the state are entitled to membership and the dues are $1 a year for each 2,000 inhabitants. The league is to hold yearly conventions, on the second Wednesday of each October at some place to be decided by the executive committee at least three months previous to the time for meeting.

Delegates Were Entertained.

After perfecting a permanent organization the convention adjourned until this morning at 10 o'clock, when the real business meeting will be held. The delegates will meet with the members of the board of water commissioners this morning at 8:30 o'clock at the corner of Peachtree and Walton streets, where a special car will be waiting to take the mayors, members of their families, friends and the commissioners to the Hemphill pumping station of the Atlanta water works system. The visitors will be shown over the plant and will return to the city in ample time for the morning session of the convention.

At 12:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon the delegates were entertained at an informal luncheon at the Capital City Club by Mayor Mims, after which they were taken to the fair grounds in a special car. At the grounds they were met by Secretary Frank Weldon, of the fair association, who escorted the party to the barbecue pavilion, where a substantial spread was enjoyed. After that the delegates visited Vanity Fair, and then assembled in the grand stand to witness the races. They returned to town in time to attend an informal reception at the Carnegie library, where they were shown through the building by Miss Anne Wallace, the librarian. In the evening nearly all the delegates and members of their families attended the horse show as the especial guests of the horse show committee and fair directors.

Many Delegates Attend.

At 10 o'clock yesterday morning the convention was opened by Mayor Mims in the council chamber. Dan Carey was appointed temporary secretary until a permanent officer was elected. All the delegates were requested to send their names to the secretary.

The following is a list of the delegates present at the first session of the convention:

Bridges Smith, of Macon; L. H. Chappell, of Columbus; J. F. Rhodes, of Athens; D. J. Bailey, of Griffin; J. A. Horne, of Milledgeville; Joe P. Legg, of Marietta; J. G. Edmundson, of LaGrange; J. S. Anderson, of Newnan; John K. Davis, of Cedartown; G. R Hutchins, of Tallapoosa; John W. Owens, of Toccoa; James R. Atwater, of Thomaston; P. H. Lovejoy, of Hawkinsville; D. L. Cheatham, of Sandersville; Clifford Walker, of Monroe; John H. Almand, of Conyers; Z. V. Peacock, of Cochran; J. W. Mayson, of Decatur; Charles W. Smith, of Edgewood; Rufe H. Baker, of Dahlonega; D. P. Melson, of Jonesboro; C. A. McDaniel, of Norcross; Frank Wright, of Cave Spring; W. A. Post, of Grantville; J. M. Moore, of Villa Rica; F. W. Runyan, of Austell; Leon C. Greer, of Oglethorpe; O. M. Duke, of Flovilla; W. B. Hollingsworth, of Fayetteville; G. A. Hill, of Hapeville; F. J. Simmons, of Jasper; W. S. Davis, of Hampton; J. A. R. Camp, of Moreland; W. H. Trimble, of Clarkston; C. H. Holberg, of Senoia; L. A. Bonner, of Rutledge; O. I. Adams, of Flowery Branch; Dr. J. E. L. Johnson, of Roberta; C. M. Tucker, of Oakland City; W. H. Ali, of Harrison; W. S. Williams, of Woodbury; R. T. Williams, of Temple; W. P. Davis, of East Point; I. Y. Davis, of Emerson; J. J. Buice, of Lula, and Livingston Mims, of Atlanta.

Four Addresses Made.

When the convention opened, J. K. Orr, president of the Atlanta chamber of commerce, delivered a happy speech of welcome. He was followed by H. H. Cabaniss, president of the Southern Interstate Fair Associatiln, who welcomed the visitors to the city and to the fair. Both addresses were heartily applauded. Judge George Hillyer, president of the board of water commissioners and former mayor of Atlanta, was next introduced. He referred to the many important questions which, from time to time, engage the attention of all city officers, and touched briefly upon the subject of municipal ownership. He had some interesting things to say about water works systems for cities. He said that one of the arguments advanced against municipal ownership was the fact that it might be open to abuse by the politicians. This, he said, might be true in a small degree, but the abuse referred to could not possibly equal the effect of companies securing valuable franchises for nothing and realizing millions upon them. Judge Hillyer was frequently interrupted by applause and at the conclusion of his speech he was thanked by a rising vote of the convention for his interesting talk.

Mayor Mims then delivered his address of welcome. He referred to the street railway fight in Atlanta and said he gloried in the vetoes that he had given plans to give away valuable franchises. He declared he had battled against monopoly during his term as mayor and had had to contend against influences of various kinds. He asserted that one of the great evils of fights between great corporations was the tendency toward securing votes by other than legitimate means. He thought public utility corporations should be required to pay taxes on the market value of the properties. He said the people should be careful to elect men to the legislature who would pass laws putting proper taxes upon corporations. His speech was warmly received.

Bridges Smith Elected.

At the conclusion of his remarks Mayor Mims said he desired the privilege of nominating for the presidency of the league a man who had already given the movement considerable attention and was eminently fitted for the place. He nominated Mayor Bridges Smith, of Macon, and the nomination received several seconds. Mr. Smith was unanimously elected. He said he did not desire to interfere with the proceedings of the convention by making a speech, but thanked the delegates for the honor conferred upon him.

Mayor D. J. Bailey, of Griffin, was then nominated for permanent secretary. In turn he nominated Mayor L. H. Chappell, of Columbus, for the office, but Mr. Chappell insisted that Mr. Bailey accept the nomination. Mr. Bailey said that, while he was a candidate for reelection as mayor of Griffin, he had not been elected and it might be embarrassing to accept an office in the league and then be defeated for mayor. The convention pledged its support to his campaign. Mr. Bailey has no opposition in the mayoralty race, and the indications are that he will be reelected by a large vote. The convention insisted upon making him secretary and he accepted.

As soon as the constitution was adopted, adjournment for the day was taken. A special car was waiting in front of the city hall to take the delegates to the Capital City Club to Mayor Mims' informal luncheon.

FULTON MAY GET RURAL DELIVERY

Special Agent Ordered to Report to Postmaster Blodgett.

COL. LIVINGSTON IS AT WORK

Believed That Six Rural Free Delivery Routes Will Be Established in County—Colonel Livingston Has Had Success in Work.

The movement for a rural free delivery system for Fulton county seems about to reach a successful termination. Colonel Livingston has worked for the rural free delivery for this county and his efforts will in all likelihood result in the establishment of possibly six rural free delivery routes for this county.

Advices from Washington state that Special Agent H. B. Moseby, of the post-office department, has been ordered to report to Postmaster E. F. Blodgett, of this city, for the purpose of looking into the rural mail facilities and making a report on the advisability of establishing rural free delivery routes in this county.

Mr. Moseby had not reported to Postmaster Blodgett up to a late hour last night, and it was impossible to learn when he will reach the city, as none of the officials have any information on this subject. However, they are looking for his arrival every day.

Special Agent Moseby will make a detailed report of the situation, and upon his report the establishment of the routes will depend to a great extent. It is thought that he will at once see that conditions are favorable for the establishment of the rural free delivery system in this county and that the citizens of the sections surrounding Atlanta will soon be given the benefit of this service.

Colonel Livingston has been very successful in getting rural free delivery routes for the counties in his district. He has devoted quite an amount of time and energy to get this system of mail delivery for the rural citizens of Fulton county, and it is thought that his efforts will be crowned with success at a very early date.

LIEUTENANT HEIDT WAS FIRST

in the United States army, having passed the necessary examination at Fort Leavenworth.

Lieutenant Heidt is the third son of Rev. Dr. J. V. Heidt, of Atlanta. Two of his brothers are also officers in the army. They are Captain James V. Heidt, Tenth infantry, and First Lieutenant Grayson V. Heidt, Fourteenth cavalry. He has already seen active service in the Philippines, and has received honorable mention from his superior officers for bravery in the field. He has not yet been commissioned, as the report of the board of examiners has only recently been filed in the war department.

As soon as commissioned he will be assigned to duty. It is known that his preference is for the infantry, but his work in the Philippines, in the artillery branch of the service, was of such an excellent order, it may be he will be assigned to that branch again. He started as a private, was promoted to sergeant's place, and as such stood the examination for commission.

"Guille" Heidt will be remembered by a large number of Atlantans as a broad-shouldered, big-hearted athlete, who was at home either on the baseball diamond or the rush line on the football gridiron. He is a man of splendid physique and has abundant brains, as was clearly demonstrated during the recent examination of applicants for commissions.

CANDLER TALKE OF FUTURE PLANS

Will Stay Out of Politics If "The Boys" Let Him Alone.

HAS ONLY TEN DAYS TO SERVE

Governor Candler Is Getting Ready To Turn Office Over to Governor-Elect Terrell on October 25—Will Leave For Gainesville.

Governor Candler had a respite from callers yesterday, and devoted the greater part of his time to straightening out his papers so as to have everything in proper shape to be turned over to Governor-elect Terrell.

The date for the inauguration of the new governor is just ten days off, and Governor Candler, with such a short time to serve as the state's chief executive, is becoming anxious for the arrival of the day on which he will return to the ranks of the state's private citizens.

Governor-elect Terrell will be inaugurated at noon on Saturday week and that afternoon Governor Candler will board the Air Line Belle, on the Southern railway, with his family and return to his old home in Gainesville.

When asked by the representative of The Constitution yesterday whether or not he would be seen in Atlanta often after his retirement to his Hall county home, the governor significantly replied:

"I generally visit a place when I have business there, and when I have reason to come to Atlanta I shall come."

The governor is opposed to committing himself on questions that demand no answer, and he is especially reticent as to his political plans for the future. Speaking of them yesterday, he said:

"I suppose that when I leave the capitol on Saturday, the 25th, I shall have finished my public service for the state. If the boys let me alone I am not very likely to appear in the political ring again, but if any fellow tells me I 'daresn't' I shall be very quick to undeceive him. If the boys want to keep me out they had best lay low.

"During the last few months I have been accused of having my eye on every office from justice of the peace of my home militia district to state senator. The fellows who have been writing about me must know more about my plans than I do."

Governor Candler has held almost every office in the gift of the people of Georgia. It is a fact of record that he has never run a close race, having always been elected by handsome majorities. If the governor should decide to become a candidate for any office in the future those in a position to know state that he must be considered a very strong factor, no matter what the office may be.

MARK AUSTIN IS MURDERED

Pistol and Bludgeon Used To Take Life of Well-Known Local Sport.

CRIME VEILED IN MYSTERY AND THERE IS LITTLE CLEW

Belief Is Austin Was Enticed to Woods and Murdered for Money and Valuables—Woman and Two Men Seen In a Buggy.

A murder, with its almost every feature shrouded in deep mystery, was disclosed yesterday morning about 5 o'clock when the dead body of Mark Austin, a young man said to be well known in sporting circles, was discovered in a field to the right of Jones avenue, near the outskirts of the city.

The city detective department worked on the case all day yesterday, but up to a late hour last night no clew had been found sufficient to warrant an arrest. Several theories have been advanced as to the motive for the murder, but robbery appears to be the most popular theory. Austin was known to have had in his possession Monday a large sum of money and also some valuable diamonds and jewelry, all of which were missing from his person when the body was found.

The murderer was merciless in his crime. Two bullets from a 32-caliber pistol were fired into the back of Austin's head and he was dealt four terrific blows on the face and forehead. The wounds appeared as though made by the butt end of a revolver or some other blunt instrument. Whether the blows were struck before or after the two bullets were fired is not known.

The Body Is Discovered.

The body was discovered by Thomas Kennedy, a hostler for the Western and Atlantic railroad. A path extends across the field and Kennedy was proceeding along this path in the direction of Jones avenue when he discerned the body of a man lying near the pathway. He thought the man was probably sick, and called to him. Receiving no response he struck a match and a closer investigation revealed blood on the man's face and head and the fact that he was dead. Kennedy then notified Bicycle Officers Moss and Branch, and Officer Moss notified Coroner Stamps.

The body was removed to the undertaking establishment of W. H. Meyer & Co., on Hunter street, and Coroner Stamps began an inquest. The officers and the coroner are making a thorough investigation of the crime, but state that they are at a loss to understand it. Austin is said to have had no male chums and this increases the difficulty in arriving at the facts, as little information can be obtained as to his movements.

The home of the dead man is in New Orleans, but he has been in Atlanta for several years. He was clean shaven and of a very dark complexion, it being stated by a man who knew him, that he was partly Spanish. He was apparently about thirty years of age.

Austin is said to have played the races at the fair grounds during the past few days, and it is stated that he won a considerable sum of money. He was seen to have a roll of bills, and in addition he wore a diamond ring, diamond scarf pin and a handsome gold watch. Two dollars in money was all that was found on his person yesterday morning, and this fact gives strength to the robbery theory.

Woman in the Case.

The main clew followed yesterday connects a handsome rubber tired trap, a woman and another man in the case. The vehicle was first noticed Monday night shortly after 6 o'clock standing at the corner of Marietta street and Jones avenue. A. H. Blankenship got off of a car at that point and saw a man sitting in the vehicle talking to a man standing by its side. A few minutes later Hal Kline, a young man, noticed the trap going out Jones avenue containing two men and a woman. James Garst next saw the trap shortly before 7 o'clock at the corner of Jones avenue and Edwards street, coming back in the direction of the city. The only occupant of the trap was a man.

Garst says the trap turned into Edwards street and thence into Simpson street. He states that he noticed a woman walking along Simpson street and saw the vehicle slow up as it rounded the corner, although he could not tell whether the woman was taken in. The description of the trap, given by the three men, tally. They describe it as being a fine vehicle, with red wheels and a black body. The trap attracted the attention of the witnesses and they were unable to describe the occupants fully.

The feature develops the theory that Austin was enticed to the scene of the crime by some strong inducement. It is argued that if the trap was connected with the murder and that one of the men was Austin, that the vehicle was waiting at the corner of Marietta street and Jones avenue for the woman, who later arrived on a car. Under this theory, the woman was probably used as a decoy. If this theory should be true, the woman and man may have entered into a conspiracy to murder and rob, or there is a possibility that some deeper motive than the mere gain of money prompted the bloody deed. It is stated that both men were neatly dressed.

May Have Sought the Spot.

Another mysterious feature is developed by the statement of Garst that he saw the same trap with two well dressed men on Sunday afternoon on Jones avenue, headed in the direction of the scene of the crime. The supposition arises that perhaps the men were locating some spot, which was to later serve a purpose. Tracks, made by a rubber tired vehicle of some description, were found yesterday morning near where Austin's body lay.

A second theory advanced is that the deed was done somewhere in the city and the dead body carried out into the field. A man named Oliver, who resides near the scene, states, however, that he heard two pistol shots between 6 and 7 o'clock Monday night, but paid little attention to them. He says there was an interval of about a minute between the reports. It is stated by those who adhere to this theory that Austin was knocked on the head and stunned and that after the body was carried to the field, in order to make the job sure, the bullets were fired into the head of the man.

The detectives are working on every possible clew and are endeavoring to unravel the mystery. The mother of the deceased in New Orleans was notified of the death and she wired an answer to hold the body. Mrs. Austin will probably arrive in the city today.

It was learned last night that friends of Austin have started a movement to offer a reward for the capture of the murderer. The amount of the reward is expected to be $200.

LIVERPOOL SENT A GOOD ADVANCE

It Was Rumored Early That Coal Strike Had Been Settled.

COTTON OPENED HIGHER

The South Sold and Reports From Entire Belt Noted Improvement in the Crop and Market Sold off—Stocks Closed at Best.

New York, ctober 14.—The cotton market opened steady, with prices 4 to 6 points higher on bullish Liverpool cables and rumors that the coal strike had been settled. The English market was up some 4 to 5 points, when a rise of only 1 to 2 points had been expected. The better ruling of the stock market seemed to give color to the strike reports. The advance, however, failed signally to enthuse the speculative public, and after room shorts had covered the whole market slowly eased off under pressure of long cotton from commission houses and bear selling. Working against the cables were fine weather reports from the entire belt and an improvement in the private crop reports. There were few orders to buy cotton from the foreign contingent after the call, and the south, as a general thing, sent selling orders. The trade was quite certain in its mind that the week south had been favorable to late cotton, and when the regular government report made its appearance at midday it showed quite the conditions expected. The scalping element sold freely on the report and forced January off to 8.61. The rest of the list offered little resistance to selling pressure, and while there were slight rallies later in the session on profit taking by room traders, the market at best was heavy and favored the bears. The close was quiet with prices net 2 to 4 points lower. Total sales were estimated at 200,000 bales. Reports from southern spot markets told of less active demand and some disposition on the part of holders to grant the concessions demanded by exporters and domestic spinners.

Review of New Orleans Market.

New Orleans, October 14.—The demand for spot cotton is good; factors are constantly tabling fresh lists for inspection and are showing a more liberal spirit in selling readily at board prices. Sales 5,350, including 2,100 to arrive. Quotations unchanged.

Futures, in response to an advance of 1 to 2 points in Liverpool, opened 1 to 4 points up, but after the morning call a feeling of uncertainty was made apparent and prices fluctuated over a range of 3 to 6 points either way with a mild tendency toward a lower level. The variations in prices, though fairly wide, proved to possess little attraction for room traders, the principal business of the day representing the commission trade almost exclusively. The market at the close showed net losses of 2 to 3 points.

The Dry Goods Market.

New York, October 14.—The market today shows a firm tone in all departments, but no change in the general character of business in progress.

New Orleans, October 14.—Notwithstanding early Liverpool advices were hardly up to expectations, our market opened 2 to 3 points lower, but subsequently, on the weakness which developed there later, declined 8 to 9 points. About this time an official prediction of light frost tonight in central and eastern Tennessee, northeastern Mississippi, northern Alabama, northwestern Georgia and the mountain district of North Carolina was issued, being instrumental in checking the easiness prevalent

THE DAY IN WALL STREET.

New York, October 14.—The overnight developments in the coal strike situation aroused a cheerful sentiment in Wall street today, and the opinion was expressed that the matters at issue were in a fair way of adjustment. The monetary situation was momentarily lost sight of in the optimistic feeling that prevailed at the opening, and stocks were eagerly bought at advances of from 1 to 4 points over yesterday's crisis. Recent speculative favorites in which the pool liquidation had been foremost were most in demand, especially the coalers and trans-continental stocks. Individual orders for blocks of from 1,000 to 4,000 shares were taken at advancing prices, and trading was in enormous volume throughout. The readiness with which prices responded to the good news, combined with the appearance of London as a heavy buyer, encouraged the bull interests to renewed efforts in driving the shorts to cover. The inquiry embraced all classes of stocks, but the largest advances were centered in the highest priced stocks. Comment was aroused over the fact that the active coalers did not advance proportionately more than other stocks, although the demand for them was heavier than at any other points. Early prices showed such a handsome profit to the traders who bought early yesterday in the semi-demoralized market that they commenced to unload quickly. Commission houses were well represented in the early demand, but the volume of realizing sales soon exhausted their orders and prices relapsed all around. Before noon the opening substantial advances had been pretty generally reduced to a fraction, and even canceled in some important stocks. The downward movement of prices was accelerated by a 12 per cent call money rate, which recalled to mind the fact that the monetary situation had to be reckoned with in an effort to create a bull market. Dealings then subsided into merely nominal proportions for a long time, but there was a steadily increasing undercurrent of strength which culminated in a violent buying movement again in the closing hour, which carried the entire market to the best prices of the day. Prominent leaders, such as St. Paul, the Pacific, Reading, Pennsylvania, Atchison, Sugar and Amalgamated Copper were bought heavily, and there was a large absorption of various minor stocks. The rally in prices was stimulated by a break in money rates from 12 per cent, the highest in the forenoon, to 5 per cent. The action of coal operators in agreeing to submit the question at issue with the miners to a board of arbitration to be named by President Roosevelt was freely discussed during the day, and lai news bearing on the subject was absorbed with the keenest interest. London purchases of stocks were considerable, and this, combined with more liberal offerings of commercial bills, caused a rather sharp decline in sterling exchange rates. News of the day included the September statement of foreign trade statistics which showed an excess of exports over imports of $27,702,277, which was a reduction of about $12,000,000 from the corresponding figures of last year. This indication of the lessened demand abroad for some of our staple products explains in a measure the recent firmness of the foreign exchange market, despite the prevailing high money rates. Nearly a million dollars gold was withdrawn from the Bank of England today for exportation to Egypt, and it was announced that the price of American eagles was advanced ¼d and bar gold ⅛d. This will tend, in the event of any indication of gold imports from here, to shift the demand to continental markets. The subtreasury statement shows that the banks have gained nearly $2,000,000 from that institution since Friday, and it is believed that the position of the banks has been materially strengthened by the early liquidation in stocks yesterday. It is expected that the resumption of mining operations will necessitate the forwarding of considerable money to the anthracite regions. In the final dealings the stock market commenced to feel the weight of the traders' profit taking sales, but the demand was sufficiently large to prevent much impression on prices, and the closing was generally firm.

The bond market today strengthened with the course of stocks and fairly active. Total sales, par value, $3,600,000.

Notes on the Early Market.

New York, October 14.—The announcement of the coal operators that they would submit the questions at issue with the miners to a board of arbitration created an optimistic feeling in Wall street this morning, which was reflected in a buoyant stock market. Enormous blocks of the various stocks were bought at the opening, causing general advances of a point or more and ranging up to about 3 points in a few instances. The coalers as a group did not display any relatively more strength than other stocks, though the buying in them was on larger proportions than the remainder of the list. The London market showed pronounced strength on buying orders from this side of foreign houses by the various international stocks at the start.

In only a few cases was there any improvement over the opening range in prices, and the exceptions were largely in the high priced inactive stocks. Traders who purchased heavily yesterday afternoon, when rumors were current of an immediate settlement of the coal strike, were ready to take their profits on the opening bulge and fed the general demand freely. The market for a time showed good resistance to this realizing, owing to the accumulation of outside orders by the commission houses. When the list developed a rather abrupt tendency to yield losses ran from 1 to 2 per cent in many of the principal stocks, including Louisville, Illinois Central, New York Central, Missouri Pacific, Delaware and Hudson and St. Paul, the latter falling back to about last night's close. Trading then became much quieter and there was some disposition among the trading element to wait for developments in the money market.

The market sagged slowly until the general advances had been reduced to fractions, and in some cases wholly wiped out. Bear traders were inclined to make capital out of the scarcity of buying orders and put out some short lines in the most active stocks. With the coal strike situation much improved on the developments over night, consideration of the monetary situation again became prominent, owing to the heavy syndicate payments which had to be met during the week. Call money loaned at from 10 to 11 per cent and was in active demand. Toward midday the stock market began to improve and there was a rise to the best by St. Paul, Pennsylvania, Union Pacific and Brooklyn Transit. The entire list showed improvement, but did not generally recover to the opening level. Great Northern preferred advanced 8 points.

The bond market was firm.

The market showed an inclination to yield, but the selling was not ample enough to effect much change in prices aside from a few inactive properties. A subsequent heavy demand for Amalgamated Copper lifted it 2⅝ to 65⅝, and caused a general inquiry for other active stocks, and St. Paul, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and a few others rose to the highest prices of the day.

Large buying orders were distributed in all the leading stocks in the final hour and prices rose rapidly to the highest of the day.

Money rates shaded off gradually from the highest figure of 12 per cent in the morning down to 5 per cent, which was a considerable factor in the rise. The trade became uneasy on this renewed exhibition of strength and bought all around the room, hastening the rise. Top prices in some instances were fully a point above the best prices made at the opening, including St. Paul and Pennsylvania.

Murphy & Co.'s Stock Letter.

New York, October 14.—The market opened at a decided advance over the closing of yesterday, based on the announcement over night regarding the strike settlement. The initial gains averaged 1 to 2 per cent with some exceptional advances ranging from 3 to 4 per cent. Speculation hesitated to take its bearings with regard to the coal strike news. At one time traders were inclined to regard concessions of operators as likely to breed trouble for the future. It was the course of money which finally turned the speculation upward, the extreme rate of the day was considerably below recent prevailing figures. The supply of funds also increased and rates steadily declined through the day. These circumstances were utilized to make a vigorous demonstration in the afternoon against shorts, and the entire list rallied sharply. The rise of over 2 per cent in St. Paul exerted considerable influence upon sentiment and a like favorable effect was produced by the rise in Copper of 2½. The general list closed materially higher than last night and which, after falling 2 per cent from the early high figures, finished without change. The market closed strong in spite of the development of a little irregularity in final dealings.

The Metal Market.

New York, October 14.—The feature of today's metal markets was the sharp advance in the London market for tin as a result of manipulation. Prices there gained £1 17s 6d, spot closing at £116 12s 6d and futures at £115 17s 6d. Influenced by this development the local market also advanced, though business was very quiet her, being a gain of about 30 points with spot closing at 25.60@25.75. Copper in London was also higher 10s or to £52 2s 6d for spot and £52 7s 6d for futures. Local values reflected in some measure the foreign strength, standard closing at 10.65@11; electrolytic at 11.40@11.50; casting 11.40; lake 11.55@11.70.

Lead was steady and unchanged here at 4⅛ and in London at £10 15s.

Iron abroad was slightly lower, Glasgow closing at 57s 8d and Middlesboro at 53s. Locally iron was steady. Warrants continue nominal; No. 1 foundry, northern, $23@25; No. 2 foundry, northern, No. 1 foundry, southern, and No. 1 foundry, southern soft, $22@23.

The Liverpool Grain Market.

Liverpool, October 14.—Wheat, spot No. 1 northern spring, steady at 6s 7d; No. 2 red western winter dull at 5s 8½d; No. 1 California steady at 6s 4½d; futures quiet; December 5s 10⅜d; March 5s 10⅝d.

Corn, spot quiet; American mixed 5s 8 d; futures quiet; October nominal; January 4s 3½d; March 4s 1⅛d.

CORN TOOK THE LEAD IN GRAIN

After a Weak Opening the Close Was Strong and Higher.

THE BUYING WAS ANIMATED

Wheat Was Easier Early, But Was Helped By Corn's Strength. Oats Closed Steady a Shade Lower — Provisions Closed Steady.

Chicago, October 14.—Interest on the board of trade once more centered in the corn pit today and after a weak opening the close was strong, December up ⅜c. December wheat closed ⅛@¼c lower. December oats were a shade lower, while January provisions closed unchanged to 2½c lower.

Indiffeerent cables, large receipts and favorable weather all combined to create an easier tone to wheat at the opening. A strong demand for May developed, principally from a leading long, and with light offerings the market soon recovered its early weakness. The southwest also was credited with good buying. The sharp upturn in corn was a strong bull factor. December opened a shade to ⅛@¼c lower at 70⅜@70⅞c. After declining to 70⅜c there was a rebound to 71¼c, but another decline occurred and the close was ⅛c@¼c lower at 70⅝c. Bradstreet's world's visible supply showed an increase of 8,144,500 bushels compared with an increase of 8,663,000 bushels last week. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 670,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 1,650,000 bushels compared with 1,050,000 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis and Duluth reported 994 cars, with local receipts of 202 cars, 6 of contract, made total receipts for the three points of 1,190 cars, against 1,485 cars last week and 1,044 cars a year ago.

Corn was active again today and after opening weakness the buying became quite animated with a local long taking on a large line. The early depression was due to the improved weather conditions and at the decline there was heavy selling by a prominent trader who is supposed to be on the long side of the market. General buying, however, soon caused a rally and the early loss was more than regained. Late in the session scattered selling with but a light demand caused a slight decline, but the close was strong. December opened ⅛@¼c to ⅜@½c lower at 47⅛@47⅜c, advanced to 48⅜c on the bulge, but declined toward the close, which was ⅜c higher at 48⅛@48⅜c. Local receipts 433 cars, 86 of contract grade.

Oats opened weak in sympathy with corn, but on covering by shorts and buying by outsiders the market rallied. There was a good trade throughout and the close was steady. December closed a shade lower at 31@31⅛c, after selling between 30⅝@31⅜c. Receipts 293 cars.

Provisions were firm on a moderate volume of trading. Covering of shorts in October lard was an early feature. The close was steady except October lard, which was higher. January pork closed unchanged at $15.67½. Lard unchanged at 8.97½ with ribs 2½c lower at 8.27½.

Estimated receipts tomorrow not received.

Murphy & Co.'s Grain Letter.

Chicago, October 14.—In the face of an array of bearish statistics, the market for December wheat held its own today and May advanced on buying by the southwest and Armour. The opening was easier on good weather, increased receipts and unchanged cables. Scalpers were the best sellers, but at the best offerings were light, and the market soon recovered under the steady gneral dmand for May. Selling later caused some reaction, but the market never lost its undertone of strength and closed firm.

Heavy selling of corn by Patten early in the session caused considerable weakness, but it did not last long. Buying soon became general and persistent, so much so that a big advance was scored and the market showed greater strength than it has for more than a week. Buying of Dcember was particularly good, coming from Armour and Cudahy. Later, there was scattered selling and light demand causing a reaction, but the market closed very strong. Urgent demand for October caused an advance of 1½c in that month. There was not much in the general news to cause higher prices.

In spite of heavy selling early by commission houses oats strengthened and recovered the early loss and more with it, but eased off near the end of the session, closing steady and a little higher. There was a good general trade.

There was a small trade in provisions with an advance in October lard, the feature being buying by some of the large commission houses. Local longs offered products after a strong opening on the bullish hog situation, and in the absence of demand prices eased off a little, but advanced again on the strength of corn and closed unchanged for nearby months.

R. M. Seale & Co.'s General Market Letter.

Atlanta, October 14.—Cotton: Liverpool did not accomplish much today, though a steadier tone was exhibited all around. Deliveries recovered a single point only, but there was a fair demand for spots at previous prices with sales of 10,000 bales. Trading in our market varied under the influences of prospective coal strike settlement and frost predictions for the central and eastern belt on one hand, and tight money with the weekly crop report indicating brighter prospects for a top crop in certain sections on the other. The latter factors dominated slightly, though a steady undertone prevailed. The market has settled down to a quiet tone, but there is no assurance that the period of quietness will be extended for any length of time. On the contrary, the surrounding features are by no means conducive of idleness, and any positive changes from present conditions are very likely to be acted upon immediately. Traders generally are watching developments in the spot department, hoping to detect some evidence of an improved tendency in demand from the regular channel, in which event a better feeling would doubtless be engendered.

Stocks—The stock market's response to the morning's news from Washington with regard to the coal strike was a general rise in prices, ranging from 1 to 3 points in the active stocks and over 4 per cent in Delaware and Hudson and Lackawanna. There was a material reaction in prices following the early advance, but subsequently the market developed renewed strength. There was some doubt as to whether the miners would agree to order its members back to work on the conditions outlined. The dealings were in very heavy volume during the first hour, but subsequently there was a curtailment in activity. Money opened at 12 per cent, but the bulk of the day's borrowing was effected between 8 and 10 per cent with the close at 5 per cent. The active features of the railway list were Atchison, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and Missouri Pacific, Erie and Readings. London's purchases aggregated about 25,000 shares, but were largely in Atchison issues. The market closed at almost top prices for the day.

Wheat—Selling was the feature at the start on large receipts, fine weather and in sympathy with corn. Offerings were well taken, however, by Armour and local traders, while outside markets displayed a good bit of strength. There was some selling of December by commission houses, but there was good buying by St. Louis, while May was well absorbed on large buying orders. Statistics were bearish, but a good demand was noted at Duluth, while clearances were liberal. We favor purchases on any declines.

Corn—The weather was fine for the movement, and opening prices were easier, but a stiff demand set in, largely in the way of covering shorts for a prominent local operator, and the opinion prevailed that Armour was a buyer of futures through brokers. Stocks of contract corn only 973,000 bushels, which is very small. Armour has been taking cash corn when obtainable. Values worked off toward the close, but we think there is very good buying of this cereal and favor purchases on all dips.

Oats were very weak early on the selling of a line in December by a commission house, while there was scattered selling of May. The market firmed up in sympathy with corn. We look for a large movement and favor sales on hard spots.

Provisions—About the only feature was covering by shorts in October lard with trade light in pork and ribs. Hogs closed easy, and should any decline develop in the product we favor purchases.

Corn, spot firm; No. 2, 68@68 1-2; options opened weaker, following a bearish weather map, but turned strong with wheat. FAIR WOMEN AND DAZZLING GOWNS FORM BEWITCHING SCENE AT THE COLISEUM

Display of Beautiful Costumes at Horse Show Last Evening Never Surpassed at Any Social Event in the South.

THE toilets worn by Atlanta women at the horse show last evening surpassed in style and elegance those yet seen at any event in Atlanta.

All the boxes presented as many pictures of feminine grace and style, while row after row of seats were filled with pretty women wearing their smartest gowns.

To say what color and style prevailed would be impossible, as it seemed Dame Fashion and the artistic modiste had combined everything lovely that could be utilized in feminine raiment. There were stately looking gowns in velvet, those of rustling silk, costly robes in lace, and ideal debutante frocks of lisse chiffon and mull. Lace and fur shared honors in the finishing touches given smart hats, and white ostrich plumes and boas formed the climax to many a handsome toilet.

Reception at Country Club.

A MORE picturesque scene could scarcely be imagined than that presented at the Piedmont Driving Club last night, when, after the horse show, the members of that organization entertained at a brilliant reception.

Leaving the Coliseum after the splendid performance afforded there, the guests saw the brilliantly illuminated club house on the summit of the hill, where the Liberati band played the most inviting and welcoming music. Tables were set upon the terrace, as well as within the club house, and on the lower floor of the New York building. An elegant luncheon was served with lavish hospitality, and music in the ball room of the New York building was the signal for dancing.

The receiving party consisted of the officers and directors of the club, including Mr. and Mrs. James W. English, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. J. Carroll Payne, Mr. and Mrs. Alex King, Mr. and Mrs. James R. McKeldin, Mr. and Mrs. S. Y. Tupper, Judge and Mrs. H. B. Tompkins and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Orme.

Fully six hundred guests were in attendance and the event was one not only memorable in the history of the club, but in the history of Atlanta's social life.

The officers of the Seventh United States cavalry and those of the Sixteenth infantry, all wearing their glittering uniforms, added to the picturesque beauty of the assembly, and the many lovely women present were the source of continued admiration.

To Mr. and Mrs. James W. English, Jr., and the directors of the club is due the success of the occasion, Mr. English, as president of the club, proving himself the genial host, while Mrs. English, in doing the honors of hostess, imparted the charm of her lovely presence to all who came near her. She wore an exquisite toilet of white peau de soie crepe, trimmed in lace, and finished with a sash of opal tinted silk. Her picture hat of lace was trimmed with plumes.

A number of Atlanta's most charming women assisted in the entertainment of the guests.

You

Can't buy

Underwear right

Except you go to the store that sells it right. A man shouldn't have to insist on knowing what he's getting; the store ought to tell freely.

Our underwear selling is conducted in the same manner we do our buying, all-wool is all-wool—cotton and wool stands for what it is, there's no masquerading here, and more than that we stand back of every garment we sell. If our underwear goes wrong bring it back; a guarantee is no guarantee at all unless it rights wrongs.

COFFEE VISE.

Holds Fast Until You Get a Knock-Down.

"I had used coffee moderately up to six years ago," writes a lady from Piney Creek, Md., "when I was seized with an attack of nervous prostration, and was forbidden coffee by my physician. I was constantly under treatment for nearly three years. After my recovery, I once took a cup of coffee, and it made me so sick I did not want any more.

"After the nervous prostration my stomach was very weak, so that I had to be careful with my appetite. As soon as I would eat certain things I would have an attack of stomach trouble, sometimes lasting several weeks, so when I was attacked by erysipelas two years ago my stomach was immediately out of order.

"I kept getting worse until nothing would stay on my stomach, not even rice water or milk, and I was so weak I had to be fed with a spoon. I had a craving for something like coffee, but that was impossible, so Father went to town and got some Postum Food Coffee, and when he asked the doctor if I might have it, he quickly answered, 'Yes.' Mother made it exactly as directed, and brought me part of a cup, and it was delicious, satisfied every craving, and [illegible] stayed on my stomach without [illegible] giving comfort instead. For several days I lived on Postum, gradually increasing the amount I took until I could drink a cupful. Then I began to take solid food with it, and so got well and strong again. I now use it constantly, and I am entirely free from any stomach trouble.

"Father and Mother both used coffee and made Mamma nervous and disagreed with her stomach so that she would leave it for hours after drinking. Father had stomach trouble for five or six years, and used to be deprived of various articles of food on account of it. Now he can eat anything since he quit coffee and uses Postum. Father says that it is better than Mocha or Java." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

CLEMSON IS LIGHT BUT VERY FAST AND SHIFTY

The game between Clemson and the Techs, which will take place at Brisbine park Saturday, is being eagerly anticipated by the supporters of both the Blacksmiths and the Palmetto boys.

Since the defeat of Tech by Auburn the South Carolina team is taking a very hopeful view of the situation. In their first game on an Atlanta gridiron they wish to make a good showing, and they have a very large debt to pay Tech for a certain event which occurred on the diamond here last spring.

Coach Heisman is giving his men the very best training possible and expects to put out a winning team. The Clemson team is said to be light, but Heisman will endeavor to overcome this by teaching its members every point of the game and making them one of the fastest aggregations of football players in the south.

Tech is at hard practice. Coach Andree watched Saturday's game very closely and is working this week to eliminate the faults which he discovered in his team then. It is possible that several changes will be made in the team, particularly in the line which proved rather easy meat for Auburn.

Quite a crowd of Clemson boys will come to Atlanta with their team to cheer them on. Clemson has a large number of admirers in Atlanta and the game Saturday will probably be witnessed by one of the largest crowds of the season.

The following special to The Constitution from Clemson tells of the interest being taken in the game at the college:

Clemson College, S. C., October 14.—(Special.)—Football circles here are all agog over the probable outcome of the game with the Techs in Atlanta on Saturday. Coach Heisman is putting his men through hard practice every day and considerable improvement is noticed.

The team this year is so light that it is necessary to depend almost entirely on skill and speed. Coach Heisman is stressing these two points especially. He is very resourceful—having introduced a style of playing almost entirely original, certainly unique. He has strong hope of having a winning team this year.

It would "go against the grain" to be vanquished by the Tech team, and the boys are working like tigers to avoid any such disaster. The team has made wonderful improvement since the game with the Agricultural and Mechanical of North Carolina, and certainly the Techs will have to put up a stubborn fight if they walk over the Palmetto boys.

This game with the Techs is arousing much interest here, and quite a number of rooters will probably go down to witness the contest. The team is glad to play in Atlanta.

SEWANEE MAN WRITES OF TIGERS' DEFEAT IN TEXAS

Coach W. A. Reynolds, of the Georgia team, The Constitution's expert football correspondent, furnishes the following criticism of the Texas-Sewanee game in Dallas Friday, written by a Sewanee man, with notes by Coach Reynolds:

"The Constitution's prediction of the outcome of the Sewanee-Texas game has proved correct.

"Texas played the Yale tackle-back play and her heavy line plunging did the work. Early in the first half she scored 5 points, sending their full back repeatedly at the line.

"The second half opened with Sewanee rapidly plunging through the heavy Texas forwards. Sewanee lost the ball on downs on the Texas 10-yard line by 6 inches. It was not until late in the second half that Texas scored again.

"The defense of both teams was very weak and Sewanee's fumbling contributed largely to her defeat. Cope, the quarter, was not at fault. He played a fine game and passed accurately to the backs, who seemed to be unable to squeeze the ball.

"Sewanee has more capacity for improvement than Texas and I hope for a good ending to her season.

"The Texas line is heavy but slow and not effective in stopping heavy line plunges. (Note.—This is evident from the Oklahoma and Sewanee games, as the Texas line was continuously broken by the plunging backs and tackles.)

"The kicking was very good on each side. Texas tried the Sewanee ends, R. Colmore and Osborne, repeatedly, but with one exception was thrown for losses.

"Texas has good ends and Sewanee could not get around them.

"I stated earlier in the season that if Sewanee won it would be on a superior kicking game worked with successful end runs. The failure of Sewanee to best Texas in these two departments of the game accounts for her inability to score."

CROWD AT FAIR HAD GOOD SPORT

Horses in Yesterday's Races Showed Up in Fine Form.

BOOKIES DID BIG BUSINESS

There Were Some Surprises, However, and They Had to Cash Many Tickets in the Fifth Event—Track Was Somewhat Cuppy.

The largest crowd that has yet attended the races at the fair were present to witness the running races yesterday afternoon.

The weather was ideal, the horses showed up in fine form, the crowd was enthusiastic, the bookies did a big business, and considerable money changed hands.

The feature of the day was the third race, when, to the surprise of a great many, Dr. Carrick came in first by 3 lengths, and it was generally conceded that Lelia Barr had the purse completely at her mercy. Dr. Carrick led from the start.

Another considerable surprise to the crowd came when Jeff led home in front in the fifth race. It was on this race that the bookies were heavy losers. Considerable money was placed on him at 4 to 1, and after the finish there were long lines of men waiting in front of each of the bookmakers' stalls to cash in. Jeff made the time in 2:42 1-2, which was remarkable considering the cuppy condition of the track.

The following is the summary of yesterday's races:

FIRST RACE—Purse $150, $35 to second, $15 to third, 3-4 mile, maidens: Time, 1:18 3-4. Pamplona, 109 (Enos), 3 to 1, won by a length; Emma Bellew, 109 (Burris), 4 to 1, second by 1 length; Loka, 109 (Gaines), 2 to 1, third by 2 lengths. Belle of Worth, Mazzara, Harrington Domo, Wee Dollie also ran.

SECOND RACE—Purse, $150, $35 to second, $15 to third, time 1:04: Nannie J, 104 (Gaines), 5 to 1, won by 2 lengths; Quicksilver Sue, 104 (Watson), 15 to 1, second by a neck; Baccie, 104 (Benson), 6 to 1, third by 2 lengths. J. Patrick, Miss Blarney, Minion, Easter Boy, Lee Nutter and Dr. Todd also ran.

THIRD RACE—Purse $150, $35 to second, $15 to third, 1 mile: Dr. Carrick, 104 (Benson), 5 to 1, won by 3 lengths; Lelia Barr, 106 (O'Brien), 4 to 5, second by 2 lengths; Vernetta, 101 (Mountain), 7 to 1, third by half a length. Lulu Hammond, Ferrena and Ada Russell also ran. Time, 1:45.

FOURTH RACE—Purse $150, $35 to second, $15 to third, 5 1-2 furlongs: Cologne II. 104 (Watson), 2 to 1, won by 2 lengths; John Coulter, 108 (Gaines), 6 to 5, second by 1 length; Pearl Mendal, 105 (A. Jones), 3 to 1, third by half a length. Springwater, Dr. Carr, Margaret K and Flora Levy also ran. Time, 1:11 1-2.

FIFTH RACE—Purse $150, $35 to second, $15 to third, 1 1-2 miles: Jeff, 105 (Mountain), 4 to 1, won by 4 lengths; Dr. Lovejoy, 87 (Benson), second by 1 length; Little Ruler, 103 (O'Brien), third by 2 lengths. Arbitrator and Lackman also ran.

DRIVER MIDDLETON HURT

Left Leg Broken By the Overturning of His Sulky in the First Heat of the Third Race. Walnut Bell Beats Charley Mac.

Lexington, Ky., October 14.—After being postponed for three days on account of the bad condition of the track the racing was continued today.

In the first heat of the third race a serious accident occurred, which will keep Driver Middleton in the hospital for several weeks. While scoring in this heat, Laurette, with Middleton in the sulky, swerved into Lady Katherine, and both sulkies were overturned. Johnson, the driver of Lady Katherine, escaped without injury. Middleton's foot caught in the wheel of his sulky and he was dragged 20 yards. It was found on examination that his left leg was broken below the knee, his knee cap dislocated and he was otherwise bruised. Lady Katherine ran away a mile and later finished fourth and sixth in the race. Dr. Strong, the favorite, won the race in straight heats.

Lord Derby easily defeated Chain Shot and Monte Carlo in the 2:06 trot.

The 2:14 trot went to Invader after six heats. A. J. D. was the heavily played favorite and Beldia second choice.

NEW ROUTE MAY BE LOCATED

Large Sums to be Spent on Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern.

Knoxville, Tenn., October 14.—It is announced that the Louisville and Nashville may completely change the route of the Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern through the mountains near Ducktown, Tenn. The contemplated change will cost $2,000,000, and will reduce the length of the road by 22 miles, as well as avoiding very heavy grades and difficult passages. The proposed route is through the Okoee river cavern, which was considered in the original construction of the Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern, but was then abandoned on account of the enormous cost.

JUST WHAT YOU'VE BEEN WAITING FOR

This morning, Wednesday, October 15th, we open branch offices, shipping depot and retail salesroom at 51 Decatur street, for the sale of HAYNER WHISKEY by the bottle, in original packages. This gives you an opportunity to purchase absolutely pure whiskey, direct from our distillery, at first cost. Please bear in mind that this store IS NOT A SALOON, AS POSITIVELY NO DRINKING WILL BE ALLOWED ON THE PREMISES. We sell HAYNER WHISKEY by the bottle only, in original packages, direct from our distillery, insuring genuineness and absolute purity.

Every quart of whiskey we sell is made at our distillery, under the direct supervision of the United States Government, and our entire product is sold direct to consumers. Therefore, when you buy HAYNER WHISKEY you are assured of its perfect purity and save the big profits of the wholesale and retail dealers.

HAYNER'S SEVEN-YEAR-OLD RYE or BOURBON is pure and unadulterated in any way, has no superior at any price, and yet it costs only 80 cents for a full quart bottle. If we sold our whiskey to dealers they would charge you at least double what we ask, and then you wouldn't be sure of its purity, for after whiskey once leaves the distiller's hands the dealer can "doctor" it as much as he likes. "Uncle Sam," however, absolutely controls the distilleries and will not allow any adulteration; so if you want pure whiskey, buy direct from the distiller--COME TO US. We shall be pleased to have you call, look over our goods and buy a bottle of HAYNER WHISKEY.

DIRECT FROM OUR DISTILLERY TO YOU

SAVES DEALERS' PROFITS. PREVENTS ADULTERATION.

HAYNER WHISKEY

PURE SEVEN-YEAR-OLD RYE OR BOURBON.

80c A FULL QUART 80c

Take it home and try it, and if you don't find it all right, bring it back and your money will be promptly and cheerfully refunded. That's fair, isn't it? Remember that every claim or offer we make is backed by a company with a capital of $500,000.00 paid in full, and the proud reputation of 36 years of continuous success. We are regularly supplying with HAYNER WHISKEY over a quarter of a million satisfied customers, convincing evidence that our whiskey pleases. You run no risk when you buy from us. We guarantee perfect satisfaction or give your money back.

Goods delivered free to any address within the city limits. Telephone orders promptly attended to. Terms strictly cash. Open evenings until 8 o'clock. Saturdays until 10. Come and look over our new store, even if you don't want to buy.

OUT OF TOWN ORDERS.

Orders for shipment out of the city must be for four quarts or more, at 80 cents a quart. Goods will be packed securely in a plain sealed box, with no marks or brands to indicate contents. We pay the express charges and allow the privilege of sampling the whiskey after you receive it. If you don't find it all right, perfectly satisfactory in every way and as good whiskey as you can get elsewhere at any price, then ship it back at our expense and your money will be promptly refunded.

DON'T FORGET that HAYNER WHISKEY is sold by the bottle only, in original packages, and never in bulk.
DON'T FORGET that you cannot buy HAYNER WHISKEY except from us, as we sell only to consumers, and never to the trade.
DON'T FORGET that you cannot buy HAYNER WHISKEY at any bar; if the barkeeper offers you HAYNER WHISKEY refuse it, for it isn't genuine.
DON'T FORGET that HAYNER WHISKEY goes direct from our distillery to YOU.

WINES, BRANDIES, GINS, RUMS, ETC.

While our business is distilling whiskey, in which we have been engaged for over 36 years, we always keep in stock a very select line of wines, brandies, gins, rums and other liquors, merely for the convenience of our customers. We buy these goods direct from the oldest and most celebrated foreign and domestic producers and sell at first cost. Quality considered they cost you less than half you pay elsewhere.

Burlington Route CHOOSE WISELY

When planning a California tour, select those routes which give one the best idea of the West—its scenery, its cities and its farms. The Burlington forms part of 160 different routes to and from the Coast, chief among them, however, is the Burlington to Denver, through scenic Colorado and Salt Lake City—the all-year route; or the Burlington and Northern Pacific roads, via Billings, should the tour include the Puget Sound country (and it should by all means); again, the Northern Pacific or Great Northern lines in connection with the Burlington, via St. Paul. Over ninety per cent of all Coast tours may include the Burlington as a part.

If it be not convenient to use the Burlington going, use it returning. It is just as good a road east-bound as west-bound. We run personally conducted excursions both ways, and two trains daily between Denver and St. Louis, Kansas City and Chicago.

We publish some illustrated descriptive folders: "To California Through Scenic Colorado," "California Tourist Excursions," "California," all free on request.

SPEND THE WINTER IN CALIFORNIA.

Describe your proposed trip and let us advise the least cost and point out how best to include the scenic features, the interesting cities, the most desirable side trips, etc.

IN THE COURTS.

The trial of the case of C. J. Kicklighter against the McCormick Harvesting Machine Company for $50,000 damages was terminated yesterday afternoon before Judge H. M. Reid in the first division of the city court, the jury returning a verdict in favor of the defendant company. Kicklighter was suing for alleged malicious prosecution.

The plaintiff claimed that he was arrested at the instigation of the company on the charge of larceny after trust and that his prosecution was malicious. The evidence showed that Kicklighter had taken the bankruptcy law and claimed that this discharged his liability to the company. The defendant denied that the bankruptcy law discharged this liability.

S. Roberts, yesterday sued the company for $5,000 damages. Attorneys Arnold & Arnold and Harvey Hill filed the suit. The petition states that the horse became frightened at the picnic car and ran away, throwing Jay out of the wagon and injuring him.

In the city court yesterday five suits were filed against the Atlanta Gas Light Company, growing out of the explosion in the streets of the city, which occurred on the 6th of last September.

The first suit was by James T. Wallace, who claims he was injured by the blowing up of the manhole and belgian blocks at the intersection of Pryor and Decatur streets. The petition sets forth that the gas company was guilty of maintaining a nuisance in allowing the gas to escape through its pipes along Decatur, Pryor, Wall and Peachtree streets, and into the conduits and manholes of the telephone company. The petition was filed by Attorneys Arnold & Arnold.

Mrs. Vannie Dora Lanford and her husband, William J. Lanford, also filed suits through Attorneys Arnold & Arnold against the Atlanta Gas Light Company. Mrs. Lanford claims $10,000 damages for injuries to herself caused by the explosion of the manholes at the corner of Decatur and Pryor street. The suit of her husband, William J. Lanford, is for $5,000 and is based on the injuries to his wife.

BOER LEADERS STILL BITTER

Significant Comment On England By General Botha's Wife.

Paris, October 14.—The Boer generals remained at their hotel most of the day. In the afternoon they drove around the city and in the evening they went to the town hall, where they were welcomed and received by the president and other officials of the municipality.

The daughter of a prominent American official who has become intimate with the wives of the Boer generals was entertained today in Mrs. Botha's private drawing room, where the general's wife showed the American girl three photographs—first, General Botha's beautiful home in the Transvaal, surrounded by trees and stock; second, a snapshot of the house in flames; third, the smouldering ruins of the general's home. Mrs. Botha said:

"The first picture shows us before English civilization, the second depicts us during the process of civilisation, and the third represents us after English civilization had been extended to us."

This incident indicates the real sentiments of the Boer leaders.

STOCK BRINGS SIX FOR ONE

Atlanta National Bank Stock Changed Hands Yesterday.

H. T. Inman Buys.

One hundred shares of stock of the Atlanta national bank changed hands yesterday, Joel Hurt having sold that number to Hugh T. Inman through Darwin G. Jones, stock and bond broker. The price was on the basis of six for one.

Mr. Hurt bought this stock two years ago at four and one-half for one and nets on the investment $15,000 in that time.

Mr. Inman has for a long time been one of the directors of the Atlanta national bank, and his purchase of the stock at the above named figure is a splendid testimonial to the strength of the bank and of the substantial advance it has made in recent years.

In two years the deposits of this bank have increased more than $1,000,000. The surplus is now more than $600,000, and the total deposits $3,500,000. The bank, under its remarkably able management, is recognized throughout the country as the leading banking institution of this section. In a few months it will move into its magnificent new quarters in the Century building, and will have the handsomest home of any southern bank. The completeness of details of all its furnishings will not be surpassed by any bank in the country.

DAILY MARKET REPORTS.

here. The weekly weather report proved to be more favorable than expected, as all the states, with the exception of Mississippi, reported an improvement in the crop outlook, and the prospects for the top crop in Texas are flattering in scattered parts in the northern section. While these features were not encouraging, the assumption that the coal strike was practically settled and easier money in New York caused a slightly steadier feeling near the close, making the net loss only 3 points on the day. Light frost may materialize in exposed sections of the Atlantic states, but there are no indications of killing frost being realized. The improvement of the crop outlook throughout the south, as indicated by the weather report, and the continued apathy shown by spinners, are not conducive to occasioning any enhancement in values. However, the more cheerful feeling in financial circles in New York and the possibility of killing frost momentarily making its appearance might cause a further advance. After reviewing the situation it looks as if weather conditions will regulate the market during the next two or three weeks.

Murphy & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, October 14.—The character of the Liverpool market when New York opened was such as to encourage buying. Prices in that market were much higher than looked for. Local shorts were nervous, and there was generally more disposition to support the market, although the government forecast of yesterday of frost in the southwest was not realized, the lowest temperature in the cotton belt being 42 to 44. Nevertheless the absence of a cold wave was offset by the more favorable industrial situation, it being regarded as quite certain that a settlement of the coal strike could not be long averted since the operators were prepared to arbitrate. It is pointed out that while the crop has been recovering of late, it is not susceptible of great improvement, and that the better outlook reported in many sections has led to a false impression of the possibility of a heavy crop, which could not be made even under the best conditions all through winter. The enormous exports continue with no signs of much decrease, and so long as this is maintained it would appear rediculous to calculate on a lower market of consequence, since it is evident that the world will require all that is made. After showing 5 points advance, the market was easier. Cables showed 1 point advance. The forecast was for fair weather in Texas and light frost in the Atlantic and gulf states. The weekly crop report was more bearish than expected. Port receipts 65,000; last year 74,000.

Weekly Crop Report.

The week was dry over the western half of the cotton region, and during the early part of the week over the eastern portion. Showers occurred over the eastern portion of the cotton belt toward the close of the week.

The temperature was about normal or above except over Alabama, western Georgia and the southern portions of Mississippi and Louisiana, where there was a slight deficiency.

The weather was exceptionally favorable for cotton picking over the western half of the belt throughout the week. Over the eastern states the weather of the early part of the week was very favorable, but showers toward the close of the week interfered with picking and stained open cotton to some extent. Nearly all the crop has been secured in some districts. Prospects for top crop are reported flattering in scattered parts of north Texas, while over other sections of that state the yield from second growth will be light. Some top crop is reported from other cotton growing states.
